Boy, 5, Accidentally Shot By Brother

A five-year-old Denton child was seriously wounded Tuesday afternoon by a rifle shot apparently fired accidentally by a four-year-old brother.

The child is, Gary Lee Hodtwalker, one of the ten children of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hodtwalker. The attending physician reported Gary Lee was "doing, satisfactorily." He described the abdominal wound as "serious, but not critical."

Both parents were absent from the rambling 12-room white frame house at the time of the accident. The other children apparently

Dixon-Yates Power Plan 'Frightening'
Ousted Utility Official Fills In Details

WASHINGTON (AP)—J. D. Stietenroth, ousted Mississippi utility official, testified Tuesday the bitterly disputed Dixon-Yates contract would produce a private power group "so huge it is frightening."

But he never did tell investigating senators whether he agreed with one of them, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), that the proposed Dixon-Yates setup would amount to "a tremendous monopoly."

Stietenroth is the former secretary-treasurer of the Mississippi Power & Light Co., which fired him last month after he alleged it served the interests of Wall Street instead of its customers.

In his fifth day of testimony before a Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee headed by Sen. Langer (R-ND) Stietenroth filled in more details of complex stock deals he said were used by Middle South Utilities, Inc., Mississippi parent firm, to syphon off millions of dollars of "embarrassingly high" earnings of Mississippi Power & Light. Much of the story he had told in prior days of testimony.

Shoppers Jam Lincoln Streets
This scene is typical of any of Lincoln's Capital City Days as shoppers are attracted for merchandise values being offered. 4-Day Fall Festival Of Values To Bring Thousands To City

Thousands of shoppers from Nebraska, southern Kansas and western Iowa are expected to take advantage of the "Fall Festival of Values," Oct. 6, 7, 8 and 9.

The four days have been designated as Capital City Days during which there will be the "greatest fall values ever to be offered in Lincoln."

The "Fall Festival of Values" will be the first big downtown Lincoln shopping event to be held in October since before World War II, according to Tom Healey, Sr., chairman of Capital City Days.

For the first three days of the event, there will be free bus rides downtown from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. On Saturday there will be no free bus. Nevertheless crowds are expected to jam downtown Lincoln because on that day the University of Nebraska Cornhuskers are scheduled to meet the Kansas State University football team.

All kinds of fall and winter merchandise for the family and the home will be displayed in downtown Lincoln stores during the "Fall Festival of Values."

Working with Healey on the Capital City Days Committee are Lee Aiken, Ed Cavey, Lee Davis, Ron Dodd, Sam Haupt, Charles Hughes, Charles Perkes and Fred Wells.

5TH AMENDMENT INVOKED . . .

Architect Tells Of $10,000 Gift

Ousted Housing Official Won't Testify As Witnesses Tell Of Large Bank Deposits, Gambling, Presents

WASHINGTON (INS)—Clyde L. Powell, former federal housing official who quit under fire, refused to testify Tuesday before Senate investigators after witnesses told of gifts, gambling, huge bank deposits and purported White House influence in 1940.

Powell invoked from the witness stand the Fifth Amendment guarantee against possible self-incrimination. His attorney announced meanwhile that the ex-FHA assistant director had been ordered to appear before a federal grand jury in Washington at 9 a.m. CST Wednesday.

This development occurred within a few minutes of a Negro architect's testimony that Powell demanded and received a $10,000 gift for services incident to the financing of Mayfair Mansions, a Washington Negro apartment project.

The testimony by Albert I. Cassel, the architect, came on the heels of sworn assertions by a former bookmaker, a builder, and a banker that Powell bet more than $100 a day on horses, borrowed $7,500 from an FHA loan holder, and banked $138,000 more than he earned as an $8,000-a-year government employee.

Witness Admonished
Committee Chairman Capehart (R-Ind) admonished Powell that he was making a mistake in refusing to testify, but added that he was entitled to invoke the constitutional protection if he so desired.

When Powell left the stand, Alfred Kaskell, New York builder, testified regarding a series of "loans" from Abraham Traub, his attorney in many housing operations. Kaskell insisted he kept a "running account" with Traub and that many "loans" from Traub merely represented money he was getting back from the attorney.

Capehart recessed the hearings until Wednesday with Kaskell still on the stand, after remarking to the witness, "I'm tired of getting pushed around . . . we're suspicious of Mr. Traub. He wrote out over a million dollars in checks and you don't know what for."

Another witness testified that Powell, who quit under fire last April as assistant FHA commissioner, lost between $5,000 and $8,000 in an all-night crap game after taking part in the dedication of a housing project at Virginia Beach, Va.

The White House was injected into Cassel's testimony. He told the Senate Banking Committee that he was blocked in his efforts to launch the Mayfair Mansions project until he received, in 1940, a call purporting to be from the office of the late Marvin McIntyre, then secretary to President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Cassel said he was told that in order to make progress he must have a "political constituency." He said he later met Elder Solomon Lightfoot Michaux, Washington Negro evangelist, who offered to provide the necessary "influence" for $12,500.

The witness said he understood that Michaux had "friends" at the White House. Cassel testified that Michaux subsequently was paid the $12,500, and that a group of directors for the project was organized, including George E. Allen, an intimate of Presidents Roosevelt and Eisenhower, Harry C. Butcher, then a radio official, and Frank A. O'Hara, a contractor.

Michaux, upon taking the witness stand, said Cassel offered him $12,500 to get a sponsor for the housing project. He said he recalled receiving $5,681 from Cassel, but did not remember any further payment. He did not deny that he may have received more.

Intimate of Ike
Butcher, long an intimate of Mr. Eisenhower, served as his naval aide during World War II, and is the author of a book recounting his experiences with the President when he was supreme allied commander in Europe.

Cassel said O'Hara, who was to do the actual building, went bankrupt, leaving $709,000 owed to subcontractors. The witness said Powell's demand for $10,000 came in connection with efforts to raise the $709,000, by boosting the FHA mortgage on the project.

He said Powell, who was the FHA official in charge, demanded the $10,000 before approving the boost. Cassel said he talked the situation over with Michaux who, he testified, told him "that was the way things were done."

Woman Is Held Here In Death

Officials Investigate 'Abortion Attempt'

By ROY CAMPBELL
Star Staff Writer

An 83-year-old Lincoln woman is being held in county jail pending investigation of a reported abortion or attempted abortion of a Council Bluffs woman who died Sept. 26, according to authorities.

A pathologist's report on the dead woman is expected to show that she died of lockjaw as a result of infection incurred in an abortion attempt.

Lancaster County Attorney Frederick Wagner said the woman being held here "has made certain oral admissions implicating her in a violation in either an attempted abortion or an abortion itself."

Omaha Man Held

In Council Bluffs, Deputy Sheriff George Lindsay said the death of the girl was reported by the county coroner and that subsequent investigation resulted in an admission from a 59-year-old married Omaha man who said he had referred the dead woman to the woman now being held in jail in Lincoln.

County Attorney Matt Walsh in Council Bluffs said the Omaha man will probably be charged with conspiracy. Walsh said the man reported he had first purchased some medicine in an attempt to abort, and that the woman herself had later also purchased medicine herself.

Both these attempts having failed, Walsh said the Omaha man referred the woman to the Lincoln woman on the advice of a second man.

Deputy Sheriff Lindsay said the referral was made on the basis of an understanding that the woman had "taken care of" several girls in Lincoln.

Reports Awaited

County Attorney Wagner said he is awaiting an autopsy report along with medical reports before filing any charges.

Wagner said he filed in County Court Tuesday afternoon a search warrant to enable officials of the county attorney's office and the Lincoln police department to make a thorough search of the woman's home in Lincoln.

According to Council Bluffs officials, the dead woman borrowed $50 from a loan company there, reportedly the price of an abortion by the Lincoln woman.

Council Bluffs authorities said that although the man held in jail there has said he was responsible for the pregnancy, there was a possibility it might be another person.

Chief Arrests Son, 18, For Drunk-Driving

OGALLALA (AP)—Police Chief H. D. Platter last Friday arrested his son, George, 18, for drunk driving.

The youth was fined $100 and paid court costs. His driving license was suspended for six months.

Chief Platter made the arrest after an accident which caused $550 damage to two cars.

"I hope other young people will accept the case as a warning," Platter said.

Rain Delights East—Skips Rest Of State

Although Eastern Nebraska farmers beamed with delight as fall rains soaked their fields, state crop experts were showing concern over the lack of moisture in the rest of the state, particularly the west.

The heaviest precipitation was reported at Nebraska City. That city received 2.79 inches. Sterling listed 2.15, Tecumseh 2.00, and Wilber 2.23.

An unofficial 4.50 inches was reported at Preston in extreme southeastern Nebraska. Rulo listed 3.50 inches. Other towns in the same area reporting moisture included Verdon 1.10 inches, Dawson 1.25, and Stella .40.

Better than an inch of rainfall fell at Ashland, Auburn, Beatrice, Bennet, Crete, Hickman, Omaha, Syracuse, Wahoo, Weeping Water and Western.

However, only lighter amounts and a drizzle were reported elsewhere in the state.

The entire state needed surface moisture, declared A. E. Anderson, state-federal crop statistician. Sub-soil moisture is adequate, but following a dry September surface moisture was depleted, Anderson said.

"We had hoped the rains would extend over the state to aid wheat fields," the crop expert declared. Western fields suffered recent wind damage and are in need of moisture, he added.

Three Die In Crash

... West Of Omaha

Lincoln Star Special
OMAHA — Three persons were killed and two seriously injured early Wednesday morning in a two-vehicle crash on West Dodge at the turnoff to Valley, 19 miles west of Omaha.

Names of the dead were not immediately known, but they were reported all servicemen. The driver of the car and one other person were killed instantly and the third died while being given first aid at the scene.

The two injured were being taken to Douglas County Hospital.

Broadwater Woman Dies In Accident

BROADWATER, Neb. (AP)—Mrs. Don Henriksen, 30, Broadwater, was killed instantly at about 4:30 p.m. Tuesday afternoon when the car in which she was riding was struck by an eastbound Union Pacific passenger train.

The accident occurred at a county road train crossing two miles east of here.

The dead woman's 35-year-old husband, a turkey rancher, is reported in very critical condition in a Bridgeport hospital.

Morrill County Attorney J. C. Conover said Mr. and Mrs. Henriksen were found about 200 feet from the point of impact with wreckage from the car scattered about for half a mile. There were no witnesses, making it impossible to determine who was the driver, he said.

Vandals Damage Five Autos By Lincoln High

Vandals damaged five Lincoln cars parked near Lincoln High School at 22nd between J and K Streets. William Bogar, principal of the school told police.

Air was let out of the two front tires of four of the cars, and the other car was discovered with flat tires.

Political Issue

The proposed Dixon-Yates contract has become a political issue and the subject of Langer's inquiry since President Eisenhower directed the Atomic Energy Commission to negotiate a contract with the private utilities group.

The contract calls for Dixon-Yates to build a generating plant at West Memphis, Ark. to supply power for the Memphis area over lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority. This electricity would replace power TVA has begun providing for AEC's Paducah, Ky. plant. Middle South Utilities belongs to the Dixon-Yates group.

As one high point in his break with his former bosses, Stietenroth on Sept. 22 wired the Securities and Exchange Commission withdrawing his signature from statements Mississippi Power & Light had filed in connection with its stock issues.

He testified Tuesday the reaction to that publicized step was a telephone call from a Mr. Barr of the SEC, but that he does not know what steps the SEC is taking to investigate his allegations that he was "high-pressured" into signing the report, and now wants his signature withdrawn lest he finds himself in violation of the law.

"If Necessary"

Kefauver promptly demanded that Langer summon SEC officials to tell "whether they did go on and issue a permit to sell stock when they were put on notice" by Stietenroth's telegram. Langer assured him that would be done "if necessary."

Recessing the hearing for the day, Langer announced Stietenroth would be called back to the witness stand to resume his testimony Wednesday.

Stietenroth testified that Edgar H. Dixon, president of Middle South, exercises voting power at the annual stockholders meetings "which makes it almost absurd for us to go through the monkey motions of voting."

The Dixon-Yates group is named for Dixon and E. A. Yates, chairman of the board of the Southern Co. Eisenhower had directed the AEC to negotiate with Middle South and Southern.

Stietenroth said he believes Yates has power over his company and its subsidiaries equal to that exercised by Dixon in the Middle South group.

Pioneer Village Gets 'Gypsy Caravan'

Lincoln Star Special
MINDEN, Neb.—A "gypsy caravan" with more than 100 years of history in its background is one of the latest additions to the transportation display at the Pioneer Village in Minden.

The "caravan," which in America would be called a gypsy wagon, was used most recently by two English girls who toured France in the conveyance.

Harboring the idea that they never would have enough money to tour France in the manner of the typical tourist, the two English girls, Karin White and Velerie

Rowed of Warwickshire, purchased the ancient gypsy wagon and a horse for the equivalent of $200. They stocked the shelves of the wagon with canned goods, set out for the English Channel and ferried the wagon to France.

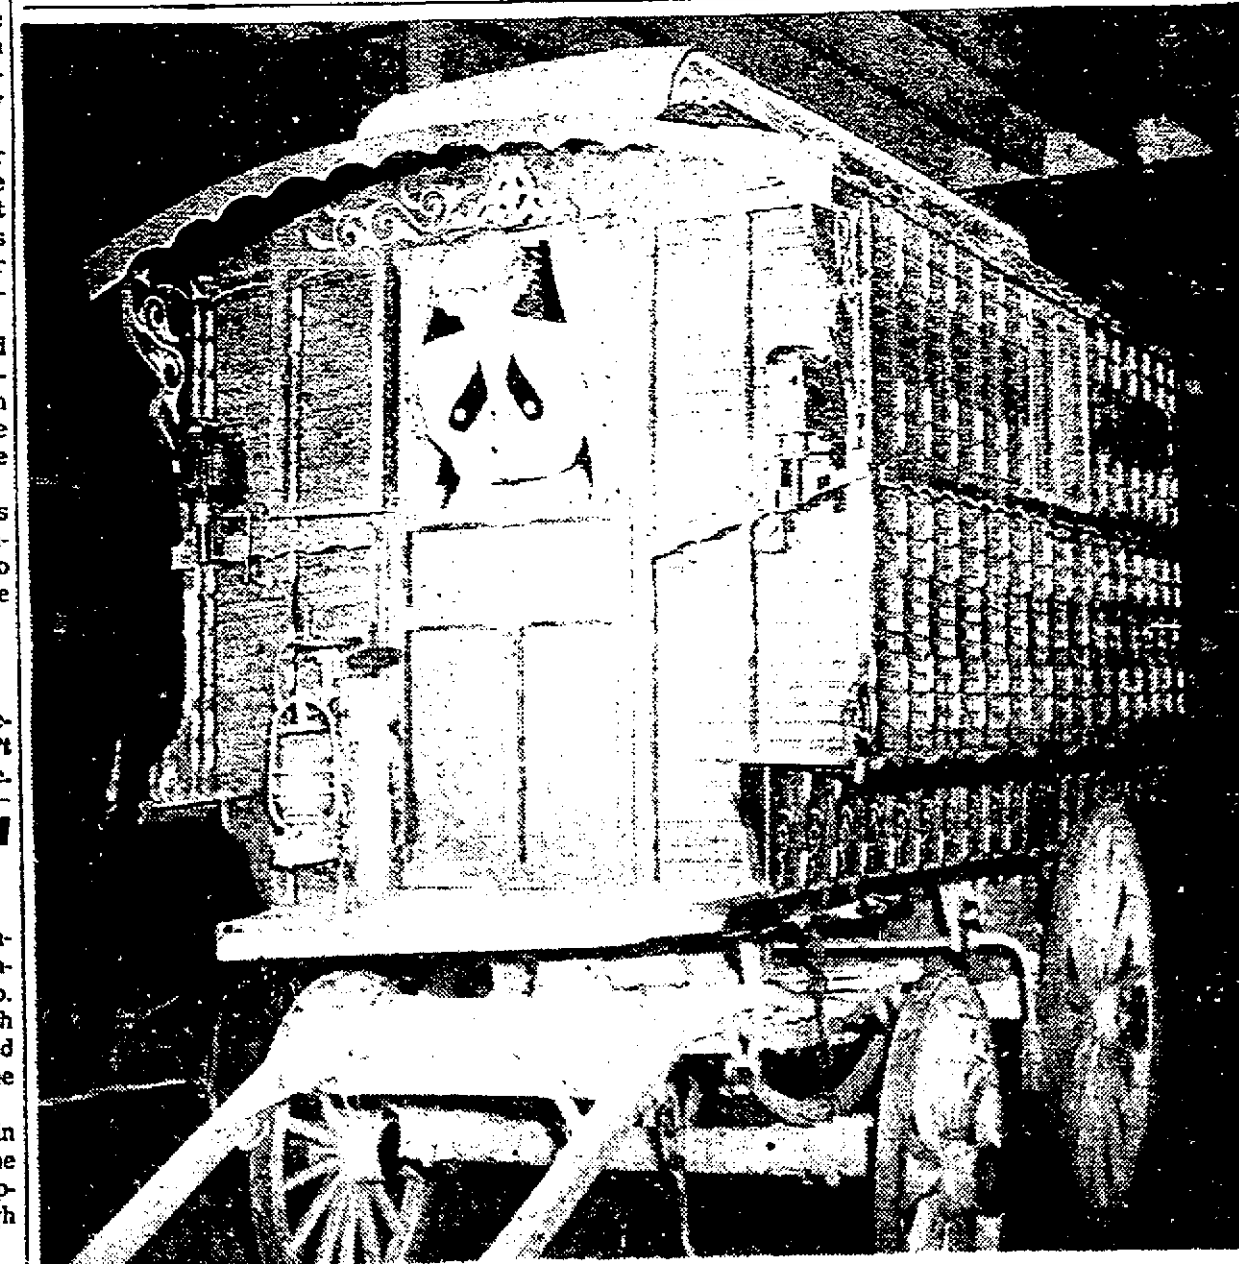

Another Link
Harold Warp of Chicago, owner and founder of Pioneer Village, read in a Chicago newspaper of this antique wagon and immediately started transaction for its purchase. The wagon adds another link to the transportation display at the village.

The gypsy caravan, a genuine model, is dressed in the authentic colors of the original gypsy conveyances which were used extensively in Europe a century ago. It has an original coal range with chimney, sleeping facilities, and the original brass fittings on the cupboards and mantlepiece.

After encountering difficulty in securing passage from France, the wagon finally was granted shipping orders to the U. S. through an English concern.

The entire transportation display at the Pioneer Village will soon be housed in a new addition to the main display building which doubles the size of the original building.

71 Vessels Caught In N.Y. Dock Strike

International Longshoremen's Assn. Acts With Display Of Oldtime Power

NEW YORK (AP)—The International Longshoremen's Assn., which pulled its 25,000 longshoremen off the docks Tuesday in an oldtime display of power, Tuesday night agreed to consider a new offer by the employers.

But the strike, which caught 71 ships in the world's largest and busiest port, was not ended, although ILA President Capt. William V. Bradley said he hoped for a quick settlement.

Federal Mediator John Andrew Burke called an emergency meeting between ILA officials and representatives of the New York Shipping Assn., in an effort to halt the second strike in New York's sprawling waterfront in six months.

He made it clear when the meeting broke up that the walkout wasn't over, but there were plenty of indications that a speedy agreement was in the offing.

The new employer offer, which included an 8-cents-an-hour wage increase retroactive to Oct. 1, 1953, appeared to go a long way toward meeting the union's objections.

Condition

The union agreed to submit the new offer to its Wage Scale Committee at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

But the employer offer was pegged to this condition: the men must go back to work immediately if the Wage Scale Committee approves the offer, while further negotiations—at least for 30 days if necessary—continue.

In addition to their retroactive pay increase offer, the shippers agreed to consider future adjustment of welfare fund payment scales, another key bone of contention in the dispute. In the meantime, the employers will continue to pay the 7-cent-an-hour welfare contribution they have been making for the past several months.

There was no violence as the union began its strike Monday night. Although it was split in two by bitter rivalry with the AFL less than five months ago, the dockers responded to the sudden call with the smooth, shoulder-to-shoulder precision that was an ILA trademark during the union's heyday.

'Strong Possibility'

Tugs were not struck at the outset and the huge liners Queen Mary and the Independence were docked routinely. However, waterborne picket lines were being organized to try to turn back the tugs.

"There is a strong possibility that the men in other ports from Portland, Me., to Hampton Roads, Va., will also strike," said ILA President William V. Bradley.

Federal mediators were striving for a truce as customs tabulators said practically the whole port was at a standstill. Fifteen ships were being worked at Army piers or docks where longshoremen are not needed.

6-Car Smashup At Base Hurts 4

A six-vehicle pileup at the east entrance to the Lincoln Air Base on 2-34 early Tuesday morning resulted in injuries to four persons, including three airmen.

The chain-reaction accident started when a truck piled into the rear of one of four cars waiting to turn into the base. A fifth car smashed into the rear of the truck.

Treatment was given Marjorie Kroese, 23, of 1337 L; Robert J. Murry, 21, of 640 So. 12; Gordon J. Reneberg, 21, of 255 So. 27th, and Ernest G. Hobson, 21, of 1542 O. Miss Kroese works at the Air Base.

According to V. R. O'Neal, safety partolman who investigated the accident, drivers of the vehicles involved were Carl H. Carver, 30, of 1601 C; Fred Rutt, 48, of 1338 D; Miss Kroese, Jesse E. Glover, 33, of Route 2; Melvin C. Hansel of 940 So. 2nd, and Murry.

None of those injured required hospitalization.

Polio Takes Life Of York Girl In Iron Lung

Marilyn McNeill, 11, of York, died of polio Tuesday at Lincoln General Hospital. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion McNeill of York.

An iron lung patient, the girl was admitted to the hospital Sunday afternoon. She had been brought to Lincoln in an iron lung which was taken to York to get her, Morris Siegel, Lancaster County polio chairman, reported.

And another polio patient from Lincoln has been hospitalized. He is John A. Curtiss, 27, of 1130 Garfield, who was admitted to Veterans Hospital Sunday night. He has an acute case but is not paralyzed.

NU Law Student

Curtiss, whose home town is Geneva, is a student in the University of Nebraska College of Law.

The Lancaster County toll is now 43 cases for the year. The late rise in polio incidence in the county is now holding up the number of cases in the state, Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health director, said Tuesday. Lancaster County reported 17 new cases last week.

However the number of new polio cases continued its downward trend last week, indicating the peak was reached about a month ago, Dr. Rogers said.

Fewer New Cases

There were 52 cases last week, compared to 56 the preceding week. The peak number was 88 for the week ending Sept. 11, and in the week ending Sept. 18, there were 71.

The total for the year now is 608 compared with 202 at this time in 1953.

Douglas County reported 12 cases last week. Scotts Bluff County had three and Adams, Cherry, Cuming and Lincoln had two each. Counties with one case: Chase, Clay, Dakota, Farnklin, Hall, Kimball, Otoe, Phelps, Polk, Sarpy, Valley and York.

Two Retire From Postal Service Here

Retirements of Florence M. Wolff, superintendent of money orders, and Lyall L. Polhemus, rural carrier, from the Postal Service has been announced by Lincoln Postmaster O. E. Jerner.

Polhemus, 53, of 722 Hill, has served with the Lincoln office since March 5, 1931 and as rural carrier since 1942.

Since May, 1952, he has served the west part of Lincoln south of O and north of Van Dorn to the Seward County line, including Emerald.

Miss Wolff had served in the Lincoln post office since Sept. 19, 1918, when she was appointed clerk.

After promotions to special clerk, assistant cashier, and assistant superintendent of money orders in 1945, she was named to the superintendent's post in April, 1953.

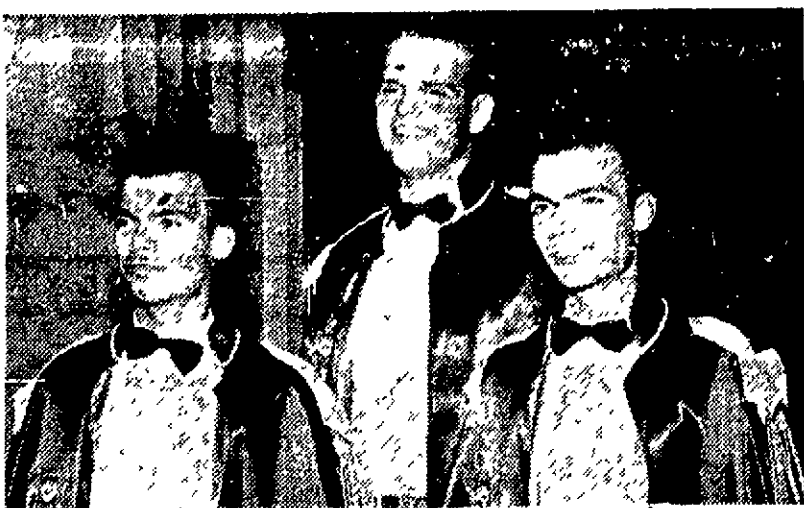

Miss Wolff, 60, is spending a few weeks with a sister in Kansas City, Mo., after which she will make her home in California.

Health Head Says Polio To Start Decline Now

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

City-County Health Director Dr. James T. Goode predicted Tuesday night that the county's zooming polio rate will now start to decline.

"But you can't be sure," he added cautiously. "The increase could be blamed on 'the hot weather we have had until just recently,' he said.

The creeping polio figures go like this: July, two cases, no deaths; August, seven cases, no deaths; September, 27 cases, two deaths; October (to date) seven cases, no deaths.

'No Epidemic'

Dr. Goode denied that the polio incidence in Lancaster County has now reached epidemic proportions.

He said a disease can be considered an epidemic when it imposes a hardship on a community and interferes with normal community activities.

The Polio Foundation, he said, however, lists 20 cases in 100,000 as of epidemic proportions.

The health department has dispensed 16,500 cc's of gamma globulin since July and has 3,000 cc's of globulin still in stock.

"We can get more gamma globulin if we need it," Dr. Goode said.

Several runs on the supply were made when County View and University of Nebraska dormitories were inoculated with the globulin, Dr. Goode said.

$39,000 In GG

The department has dispensed and has on hand a total of $39,000 worth of globulin. It is dispensed to doctors who use it at their discretion.

"We do not allow the doctors to pile up a supply of globulin in their offices," Dr. Goode said.

If sold commercially an adult shot of globulin for polio would cost the person $60.

The department reported 43 cases of polio in the county, 38 of them in Lincoln and five outside the city.

Three patients are in iron lungs, two at Lincoln General and one at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, according to Dr. Goode.

Mrs. Marie Lutzi Services Thursday

Funeral services for Mrs. Marie Christine Lutzi, 88, of 326 B, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Hodgman-Spahn. The Rev. William Roesler will officiate. Burial will be in Lincoln Memorial Park.

Mrs. Lutzi, a Lincoln resident 43 years, died Tuesday. She was a member of Immanuel Lutheran Church. Her husband, Henry, died in 1949.

Surviving are three sons, Peter, Alexander and John, all of Lincoln, and six grandchildren.

Dr. John Rogers County Physician

Dr. John W. Rogers, 35, has been named county physician by the Lancaster County Board during the absence of Dr. G. W. Dean.

Dr. Dean, who has been county physician since 1952, was granted an indefinite leave of absence for military service. He is being recalled by the Navy this month.

Dr. Rogers, who has been practicing in Lincoln since July, 1953, is from Trenton, Neb.

Dr. Rogers' salary as county physician was fixed at $250, effective Oct. 1, by the board.

Nautilus Test Trial Is Delayed

... Pipes To Be Replaced

WASHINGTON (AP)—Construction trouble in the atomic submarine Nautilus, which came to light when a steam pipe burst Sept. 18, will delay trials of the submersible at least three months, the Navy said Tuesday.

Rear Adm. B. E. Manseau, acting chief of the Bureau of Ships, announced that "operational and test use of the Nautilus will be delayed not less than three months because of the necessity for replacing piping which does not meet specification requirements."

On Sept. 18, a 1 1/2-inch steam-line burst while undergoing routine dockside tests. The Navy said at the time that the steamline did not involve the atomic reactor and there was no danger of contamination.

"This failure," the Navy said Tuesday night, "occurred in a pipe, the material of which did not meet specifications. At that time, the Navy stated that a thorough re-check of piping was being made and that replacement of additional piping, which might be necessary, might have some effect on the anticipated start of test operations in late October, 1954."

The 55 million dollar, 3,000-ton Nautilus was launched last January and was formally commissioned as a member of the fleet last week. It is at Groton, Conn.

NU Scholarship Fund Established By Mrs. Marvin

Mrs. Henry H. Marvin has established a $1,000 scholarship fund in the University of Nebraska Foundation as a memorial to her husband, the late Dr. H. H. Marvin, University physics department staff member for 35 years.

Income from the principal is to be used for undergraduate scholarships awarded by the University's scholarship committee. Preference will be given to students in physics. Dr. Marvin, who served as chairman of the physics department for 28 years, died July 24, 1954.

'Withdrawal Of National Advertising Would Bring Panic,' Speaker Asserts

"If national advertising were withdrawn tomorrow millions of persons would be thrown out of work and national panic would begin to assert itself."

That was the statement made here Tuesday night by Orville Johler, vice-president in charge of advertising and merchandising for the Independent Grocers' Alliance, speaking before the Advertising Club of Lincoln at the Cornhusker Hotel.

"If national advertising were withdrawn, can you imagine what would happen to our economy? It would not be long until our magazines, newspapers, radio, and television programs would disappear and be substituted most likely by government-subsidized imitations."

Johler said that in the past 28 years, newspaper advertising has helped build the IGA stores and "their job has been so successful that we couldn't do without newspaper advertising today."

ILL MARILYN FILES; DIMAG STILL THERE

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Marilyn Monroe, bedded upstairs with emotional upset and a virus, sued Joe DiMaggio for divorce Tuesday while the former baseball hero made himself comfortable downstairs in the home they still share.

The suit, filed in nearby Santa Monica through her attorney, charged mental cruelty but cited no specific instances.

The former star outfielder of the New York Yankees caused the screen's No. 1 box office attraction "grievous mental suffering and anguish" through no fault of hers, the action said.

Just as her attorney had predicted, it was an "innocuous" complaint of the type often filed by parting Hollywood folk. The brief document which spelled an end to one of the year's most celebrated marriages gave the date of the wedding, last Jan. 14 in San Francisco; date of the separation, Sept. 27, just before DiMaggio went East to cover the World Series for a syndicate, and said there are no children and no community property.

Both the principals have been in seclusion in their English-style Beverly Hills home since Miss Monroe surprised hollywood with the news of their breakup Monday.

The actress' attorney, Jerry Giesler, held an hour and a half conference with Miss Monroe Tuesday and later reported her "upset physically and emotionally."

TV Planning By KFAB Told By Bremser

WASHINGTON (AP)—After seven days of cross-examination, KFAB Program Director R. Lyell Bremser Tuesday neared the end of his testimony at a Communications Commission hearing in support of KFAB Broadcasting Co.'s application for television Channel 7 in Omaha.

Bremser was cross-examined all day by Percy Russell, attorney for the Herald Corporation, a rival applicant for the Omaha channel. Russell told examiner Isadore Honig he would conclude his questioning Wednesday morning and said the Herald Corporation would start presentation of its case Wednesday afternoon.

Bremser was questioned about personnel assignments and programs proposed by KFAB.

Questioning brought out that KFAB proposes a larger number of civic, educational and college programs on television than it now carries on its radio station. Bremser said KFAB on television would concentrate to a larger degree on local programs than it has on radio.

Russell said that KFAB, in planning its typical program week, had declined all network sustaining programs and had substituted local commercial programs. Bremser agreed but said that KFAB also had passed up some network commercial shows and scheduled sustaining local programs.

Mitchell And ADA Accuse Nixon Of Dishonest Campaign Tactics

... 'VP's Veracity Becoming Issue'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell and the Americans for Democratic Action both accused Vice President Nixon Tuesday of dishonest campaign tactics.

Mitchell told a National Press Club luncheon that Nixon's veracity, especially on the Communist-in-government matter, is becoming a campaign issue. He asked whether President Eisenhower is "going to continue to countenance" what he called distortions that amount to "deliberate falsehoods."

The ADA blast at the vice president was in a statement which said Nixon had conducted a "campaign of vilification and misrepresentation" against ADA. It said he had tried to identify ADA with the Democratic party and called this a "preposterously dishonest diversion."

The ADA, too, quoted Nixon as having said its record on the internal Communist issue "is not one which would inspire confidence."

Replying, ADA said its founders' purpose was to restore "the influence of liberalism" in national and international policies and said it was set up in 1947 "by Americans who had been fighting communism for years."

In accusing Nixon of distortions,

Mitchell said that one example was Nixon's lumping together of Communists and lesser security risks when talking about dismissals from the government.

Mitchell said Secretary of Agriculture Benson took the same line Monday, telling a Salt Lake City audience that the Eisenhower administration had accomplished "the routing of Communists who had become entrenched in parts of our government."

The Democratic chairman previously had challenged Nixon to name any Communists that had been fired by the Eisenhower administration.

He called Tuesday for Eisenhower to "repudiate the Nixon-Benson smear" and spoke of Nixon as the "chief slanderer of the Democratic party and the civil service."

Mitchell also urged Eisenhower to "call off the Dixon-Yates deal now."

Eisenhower will have to do these two things, Mitchell said, if he wants to "restore the image" the voters had of him in 1952.

The proposed Dixon-Yates contract for construction of a private power plant that would use lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority, Mitchell said, constituted favoritism to big power interests that could lead to corruption.

'Middle Way Survives'

MASON CITY, Ia. (AP)—The Eisenhower administration's "middle-way" program so far has survived the efforts of "left-footed, ADA-minded opposition" to kill it, but the battle still rages, Vice President Richard Nixon said Tuesday night.

"We are still hotly engaged against the spokesmen for big government and socialistic tyranny," said Nixon.

Interior Marks $9.8 Million For Nebraska

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Department of Interior reports it will spend $9,819,844 on projects in Nebraska in the year ending next June 30.

A department release says that the bulk of this—$8,186,109—will go for Bureau of Reclamation activities.

This will include $7,478,987 for construction and rehabilitation and $707,122 for operation and maintenance. Two new projects are to be started—the Sergeant irrigation unit, to get $1,000,000 during the year, and the Gavins Point to Belden transmission line, $450,000.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs has earmarked $491,798 for use in the state. Of this, $356,717 will go for education and welfare services. $73,731 for resources management; $42,357 for construction, and $18,993 for administrative expenses.

Other Interior Department expenditures in the state, as listed, will be: Fish and Wildlife Service, $65,502 for management; Geological Survey, $52,600 for surveys investigations and research; Bureau of Mines, $13,450 for conservation and research, and National Park Service, $253,985.

The park service expenditures will include $81,145 for management and protection, $35,720 for maintenance and rehabilitation; $23,720 for construction and $63,400 for administrative expenses. A new park service project will be an extension of a water line at headquarters, Scotts Bluff National Monument, at a cost of $22,300.

Need For Clarification

The news columns recently carried a report of efforts to be made by Sanitary District 1 to have the State Legislature fix the responsibility for trunk line sanitary sewer work in Lincoln.

With establishment of a committee to work out a proposed bill for the legislature to accomplish this end, the District struck at the very heart of the dispute over sewers now running between the city and Sanitary District. Attempting to meet the city's sewer needs in joint endeavors, the city and District have arrived at nothing but a general distrust of one another and have actually set progress on the needed improvements back many months.

Both governmental sub-divisions agree that the sanitary sewer system needs study and that the study will show a need for considerable expansion of the system—possibly to the tune of some $1 to $2 million. This program is not peanuts, nor is it a program where there is any room for needless bickering and costly delay.

But without a clear cut definition of who is responsible for certain work, the desired end will never be reached. Not only have the District and city shown that a joint sewer operation is impossible, but that method of operation has a basic weakness which invites failure.

As a matter of good and efficient administration, the responsibilities of all governmental sub-divisions should be fixed without the trace of a doubt. As conditions now exist, the District operates the sewage disposal plant, which is inside the city limits, and builds some sewer lines outside the city limits.

The city handles most of the other end of the sewage disposal program—construction and maintenance of trunk and auxiliary lines within the city. This division of responsibility or authority has apparently just grown up through the years, with no legal basis for it yet discovered.

Clearly, there is need for a legislative bill to place the sanitary sewer system entirely under one of the two bodies. Despite the fact that the city now builds a major part of the sewer line system, the District has the disposal plant and the organization, which the city lacks, for handling the work.

With possibly some changes in its financial structure, either through taxation or metering and charging for sewer services, and few, if any, personnel additions, the District appears to be the most logical body for handling the sewer system. But of even more importance than who is charged with or given the sewer line system is that it be placed under one head.

In The Long Run

The Nebraska State Board of Control has submitted its budget for the next biennium, a budget which for the first time makes provision for a stepped-up program of psychiatric treatment for patients at the state's three mental institutions.

For all of the seventeen institutions which come under its supervision the board requests an aggregate of $32,609,664, not all of which, however, is to come from state tax funds. The board's request is an increase of 33 per cent—$8,079,321 more than estimated expenditures for the biennium now drawing to a close. Of the total $5,500,000 the estimated receipts from the institutional building fund, is not to be confused with day to day operation or maintenance requirements, together with an estimated $3,909,808 in cash collections during the next two years, starting on July 1 next.

The great bulk of the increase goes to the mental institutions. At Hastings and Lincoln it proposed to add six more psychiatrists, raising the total at each of the two institutions to twelve; a psychologist at Hastings, two social work supervisors and two occupational therapists. At Lincoln in addition to the six psychiatrists increasing the total to ten, four more physicians, two recreational aides, 131 ward aides, 27 nurses, 10 occupational therapists and four psychologists would comprise the expanded staff. Norfolk calls for three more psychiatrists, raising the total to four; 31 ward aides, 18 physicians, six psychiatric social workers, a psychologist, and 18 physicians.

In support of its requested increase the Board cites that mental health experts are of the opinion that an intensified treatment program will save millions of dollars in the long run by reducing the number of patients in the state mental hospitals.

Legislative reaction to the request cannot be anticipated. But the program outlined is in line with what is being done in many other states. The Board's budget request, however, rather clearly outlines the urgency of a high level of prosperity in Nebraska. We cannot go back to conditions which prevailed years ago. Our reasonable needs for government services have increased, tremendously, due to a number of factors, but basically due to the fact that the dollar does not buy as much in goods and services.

No Toll Road

The Wisconsin state turnpike commission closed its study of a cross state toll road, connecting Illinois and Minnesota in a planned highway to the northwest with a decision not to construct one.

For the time being at least that concluded a movement that saw the Wisconsin legislature make available $250,000 for a toll road survey, form a commission to preside over it with power to act. Concurrently with that there was a test case in the Wisconsin supreme court resulting in a decision that the commission could build the road if it saw fit, financing it by a revenue bond issue the only provision being that all of the roads costs would have to be defrayed by its earnings.

The no-construct decision coming in the face of a full green light to build, and by engineering reports that construction offered no unusual problems points out a controlling factor quite generally overlooked.

It appeared from the survey that revenues from the toll road would have a hard time, especially in the early years, meeting the bond requirements. And that just about turned the trick. It is well known that to build a toll road if the potential buyers of the bonds are skeptical of the investment. The Wisconsin bonds, had they been offered, promised to go begging.

Chain Reaction

The nuclear age with its chain reaction has landed in politics, and the GOP has staged a historic first with it, according to the St. Louis Post Dispatch which observes that: "Republican Sen. Jenner of Indiana, chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, says he will investigate Republican Sen. Watkins of Utah, chairman of the Senate Select Committee, which investigated the charges brought by Republican Sen. Flanders of Vermont against Republican Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin, chairman of the Senate Permanent Investigating Committee, which investigated Republican Secretary of the Army Stevens of New York in an investigation headed by Republican Sen. Mundt of South Dakota—all in the first 20 months of the first Republican administration in 20 years."

Bolivian Reforms Keep Communism Out

LA PAZ, Bolivia — Sen. Allen Frear of Delaware was attending an official dinner party in Bolivia not long after the national revolutionary government of President Paz Estenssoro had put across its sweeping land reforms.

"Mr. President," asked the Delaware senator, who happens to be a farm co-op leader and farm banker, "what about this socialist program you've started to divide up the land?"

"I have found," replied President Paz, "that the best way to combat Communism is to give each man some land of his own. A man who owns land doesn't become a Communist."

And the president continued with such an eloquent explanation of his reform of Bolivia's feudal land system that Sen. Frear remarked: "I withdraw my question."

The point that Sen. Frear explored was what makes Bolivia the most important country in Latin America right now. For what happens to Bolivia's plan of dividing up the huge landholdings among hitherto landless Indians may set a pattern for other South American countries. It may set a pattern first for Peru and Ecuador, which, like Bolivia, have large Indian populations. And it may set a pattern for countries like Venezuela and Colombia, which have small but unequal economic opportunity that tends toward Communism and makes some governments sit on kegs of dynamite.

If, on the other hand, the Bolivian experiment fails, Communism is almost certain to engulf that nation—a nation which is our only important source of tin outside Asia. Nothing, of course, could please Moscow more than to have the tin areas of both Southeast Asia and Bolivia come under Communist control.

All of which is why what happens in Bolivia is vital to every American, and why Senate delegations, plus Assistant Secretary of State Holland, are visiting Bolivia today. It is also why I am reporting from that country now.

TIN BARONS RULED

To get the true picture of what's happening you have to go back to the days with Bolivia was controlled by three great tin barons and 1,000 ruling families. Of the tin barons, only one, Aramayo, was Bolivian; one, Hochschild, was German; and the third, Simon Patino, became the wealthiest man in the world, took up residence in France, and until his death, watched his grandchildren win headlines with their international divorce and custody brawls.

In contrast, 90 per cent of Bolivia's population is Indian, cannot read or write, and lived under a feudal system whereby they were required to spend three to five days a week working on their land-lord's hacienda in return for the right to cultivate a patch of corn and potatoes. The Indian was paid no wage, nor was his wife, who was required to work as a servant in the home of his land-lord. It was a system of peonage pure and simple.

And while Bolivia's first thousand families sent their sons to Oxford and Harvard, they sent their Indian tenants on occasion from Cochabamba to La Paz, a distance of 300 miles, merely to mail a letter.

Furthermore, out of Bolivia's near 4,000,000 population, only 140,000—chiefly the property owners —were permitted to vote.

Against this backdrop of Bolivian history it is easy to understand why Bolivia has experienced approximately 129 revolutions in her 129 years of history and why in a sometimes turbulent South America she is the most turbulent country of all.

PAZ REVOLTS

Such was the economic status of Bolivia until a dynamic professor of economics suddenly came out of exile three years ago to ride back to La Paz and the inauguration of the most drastic reforms Bolivia, and probably no other Latin-American country save Mexico, has ever seen.

The new president, of course, was the same man who was questioned by Sen. Frear—Victor Paz Estenssoro.

What he did first was seize the tin mines of the big three and nationalize them; initiate universal suffrage; and divide up the land among the Indians who had worked on it.

Since then Paz has put across various other less sweeping reforms—some with the direct help of the United States—as for instance an agricultural small loan bank to finance the Indians on their new land, a plan worked out by P. O. Huggins, formerly with Nelson Rockefeller's Inter-American Corporation. President Paz has also given the United Nations the green light to draft a new civil service law for Bolivia.

Naturally these reforms have not been accomplished without some injustice, some violence and a great deal of bitterness, not only at the regime but against the United States which has officially backed the "national revolutionary movement."

In Cochabamba, for instance, I saw President Paz and Eisenhower's assistant secretary of state Henry Holland, being acclaimed by several thousand Bolivians who held up signs which read: "We are not Communists, but we are true revolutionaries."

As far as I could ascertain, this is a fact. The Bolivian government is vigorously anti-Communist, but it is also vigorously revolutionary.

PEROXIDE MARKET

All change is not necessarily progress, however. For example, in the New Hebrides islands hydrogen peroxide is on the best-seller list—not for its medical value but for its ability to change the color of the natives hair from its normal black to a brilliant orange. Since the change is far from permanent, the natives are spending too much of their restricted incomes for peroxide, say the authorities there. And speaking of bleaching the hair, the Japanese girls are turning blonde at $3 per treatment. One Tokyo beauty salon reports that 20 per cent of the customers are women who want to become blondes—or who are already blonde and want to stay that way. Editorials in Japanese papers denouncing the fad have had the result that such editorials usually have when women's fashions are concerned.

Mountain States Issue Is Water

DENVER — Democrats of the Mountain states say they will largely pitch their campaigns on the great regional issue of water.

The life-giving streams of the Pacific Slope arise among the snow-capped peaks of Colorado, Wyoming, New Mexico and Utah. Together with parched Arizona, these states have long been in a running battle with the rich giant, California, which under the far-sighted leadership of Earl Warren has reached out to insure its own water supplies.

This war for the water, which is vital to the normal growth of all the states concerned, is a complex affair. It has been sharpened by the prolonged drought that has touched the whole area. It is not now even a question of further growth in many places but a need to protect what exists. For example, Denver water board officials warned last week end that water restrictions were still essential and that the picture might get much worse next year.

The Democratic argument takes the form that:

1—Republicans in the area have not been sufficiently alert to the problem.

2—They are fatally handicapped by the conservative Eisenhower administration, which puts budget-balancing ahead of the country's development, and by the powerful California influence within the administration.

3—Southern Democrats in Congress have and will co-operate with their Mountain State Democratic colleagues, but Eastern Republicans are determined to slow down the growth of the West.

Democrats also see in the water issue the reply to Vice-President

Nixon, the pile driver of the Republican campaign, who is coming to Colorado this week. The vice-president, of course, is one-half the California influence in Washington, the other being Senate Majority Leader Knowland.

An exchange between Nixon and John Carroll, Democratic senate nominee here, is illustrative. Carroll, a former representative and aide to Harry Truman, is a New Dealer. Promoting his theme that a Democratic congress means "Ada-left wing" dominance, Nixon said in New York last week that Carroll was an example of what he meant.

Asked for comment, Carroll replied calmly: "Of course, the vice-president, quite properly a fighter for California, does not want a strong Colorado senator in Washington. He knows I will fight him on water, the great issue between our states. He naturally wants my opponent (Lt. Gov. Gordon Allott), who would be a freshman new to Washington. He could handle him."

Other principal Democratic Senate candidates in the area are New Dealers, too. They include Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, who is challenged by Gov. Ed Mechem, and former Senator Joe O'Mahoney, who is battling Rep. William Henry Harrison in Wyoming for the seat of the late Lester Hunt. All have been anticipating the Nixon attack, which they call "McCarthy in a white shirt."

Their answer to the "Back Ike" appeal will be to rely on local issues and to appeal for regional solidarity to protect them from what they call the California-Eastern leadership of the GOP.

HERE'S OTHMAN

Oil Is Where You Find It

MARACAIBO, Venezuela — Oil, gold, is where you find it and here it's mostly in the middle of a lake so wide you can't even see the far shore.

So the Shell Oil Company maintains a 24-hour helicopter service to the drilling barges in the center of the drink. The most interested observers of the whirly-birds are the ladies whose faces you can read like a book.

These are the members of the Goagira Indian tribe and they wander around some of the most modern industrial operations of the 20th century in costumes that have been standard with them for at least 500 years. On their feet they wear flat-soled shoes with orange and black pom-poms the size of small footballs over their toes.

Their dresses look like kimonos, usually of black, while their faces are decorated with designs in red and black paint. This is handy. A Goagira man can glance upon a maiden and tell at once by the painting on her cheeks and brow whether she's married, and if so, how many children she has. He can read further, even as he looks into her eyes, how old she is, where she's from and whether she's open for a date the following Tuesday.

Down past the other end of the lake is another tribe of Indians about which I don't know much. Neither does anybody else. They have a bad habit of shooting visitors with poisoned arrows. A Shell man told me that in the last 40 years of operations here, the firm has lost a number of explorers to Indian attack.

The geologists believe that still more vast oil fields are in the Indian country, but how can they prove it if they can't get back alive?

So Hilda and I drove down to the Conception field, which had two great advantages from our viewpoint. It was on dry land and it was operated in large part by tame natives under the management of Dutch and British technicians.

Here are more than 400 flowing wells, not including the deepest one ever drilled in South America. It went down to 17,000 feet, where the management hit dust and gave up.

Paul Hoos, a Dutchman born in Singapore and educated in Switzerland, took time out from his duties to show us a well in the process of drilling and to give us a lecture on the fascinating subject of mud. He is a mud engineer and such mud as he mixes in large puddles you never did see.

This mud is pumped down to the drilling bits, which it lubricates. Then it carries up the chips so the well won't get clogged, and stirring it up is an art as well as a science. Each well demands its own special kind of mud, which in general is a mixture of a special white clay imported from Canada, plus dollops of phosphates, acids and other ingredients specified by Hoos.

In the field the firm provides excellent housing for all hands, swimming pools, baseball diamonds and meals, the preparation of which is supervised by an Italian countess. She must have studied home economics, because lunch was as man-sized as it was good. Hilda was interested to note that Shell's employees didn't decide whether to eat lamb chops or roast beef; they all had lamb chops and roast beef.

Oil, in other words, has turned Maracaibo from a sleepy village into a city of 250,000 and has done it so quickly that the contrasts are apparent at every street corner. Take the Del Lago hotel, where I am typing this dispatch at a plate glass window with a vista of lawns and palm trees sweeping down to the water's edge.

It is an ultra-modern hostelry, air-conditioned against the sticky heat, and equipped with the first swimming pool I ever saw with awnings on top. These slide across wires, via pulleys, so bathers won't get broiled in the tropical sun.

The odd thing is that if it weren't for the equatorial flowers, it could be, say, in Wichita, Kan. Nearly all the customers are oil men and machinery specialists from the U.S.A. The cigarettes and the newspapers at the tobacco stand all came from the north, while English is the language that everybody speaks. I tried my Spanish on the waiter last night at dinner; this so confused him that he called in an associate with a better understanding of this strange tongue.

Baseball Guides

Guttenberg, N.J.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I would like to appeal for your readers' help in a search for some old baseball book. You see, I am trying to fill out a collection of the Reach and Spaulding Official Baseball Guides. These are annual baseball record books which were published yearly from 1876 to 1941 and are familiar to the old timers among your readers.

As the Guides are now out of print, there is difficulty in completing the set—hence this plea. Since the Lincoln area has always been baseball-minded, I believe that there may be some of these books in the hands of your readers, which they may wish to dispose of.

Hoping that there is an element of interest and unusual novelty in my quest.

Postponed Action

North Loup, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: When the Republicans put off the McCarthy vote until after the election, it was made evident that the Republican leaders lacked the courage to face the result.

It seems clear that the Democrats will sweep the country—even in Nebraska. The Republicans are on the run as the farmers' vote will turn them upside down this fall. The Republicans have billions for Europe and Asia, and not a penny for farmers' high supports.

CLEM N. MEYERS

Paging Balanced Budget

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Where, oh where has the balanced budget gone? We were going to have one, you know—at least that's what the Republicans have been telling us for 10, these many years.

"Just let us have a chance at that fiscal situation and we'll show you what brains can do," they said. "Let a business administration get down to Washington and we'll put the financial house in order, right now."

Well, the budget is more lopsided now than one of the baseballs Dusty Rhodes hit in the recent World Series. And what's the very latest Republican alibi? "The recession in business has caused a falling off in tax receipts." Not only do they now admit that the budget will be out of balance by more than $4½ billion, but they won't be able to get even a cash balance on receipts and expenditures—a thing that poor maligned Mr. Truman did twice in his time.

In 1952 the cry of the Republicans was "Don't say it can't be done—we can do it." In 1954 the alibi is "We could have done it but for what the Democrats did." And this talk comes from the paragons of business—from the spokesmen of "the only party fit to govern."

GOOD LUCK—

Tragedies Don't Floor Brave Oxford Woman

OXFORD, Neb.—Courageous. That best describes the actions of Zita Deselms, pretty Oxford girl. She's fighting back from a series of heart-breaking tragedies that would have floored many. And she's fighting back from a wheel chair.

Paralyzed, Waist Down

Zita, only 22, is paralyzed from the waist down as a result of an automobile accident which broke her back and killed her twin sister.

She has spent about one-fourth of the last five years in hospitals.

Then, two years ago, her husband was killed. He suffocated to death when he went to sleep in his truck with the heater on.

But Zita didn't give up. Today, she's a jeweler. She makes wood fiber corages, necklaces, earrings and bracelets.

Red Letter Day Nov. 1

It takes her two hours to make a necklace and earring set. She has made over 1,200 of them.

Zita clears around $50 a month on the jewelry business.

But that's not enough. She also sells magazines and greeting cards. This doesn't bring in much, but every little bit helps to bite away at the tremendous hospital bill of $2,600.

Nov. 1 will be a red letter in the courageous woman's life.

On that day, she plans to open a gift and record shop in Oxford.

Here's wishing her luck.

New FHA Warranty Means Better Protection For Owner

WASHINGTON (AP)—The warranty provision of the new housing law, designed to protect the buyers of new homes from shoddy workmanship or inferior materials has gone into effect.

The Federal Housing Administration said the requirements will be effective on all builders who mortgage insurance after Friday, on one-to-four-family homes which are cleared for mortgage insurance before the start of construction.

The builder must issue warranty to the buyer that the dwelling is built in "substantial conformity" with the plans and specifications on which FHA bases its regulation.

If a home owner finds that his house falls short of specifications, he must give written notice to the builder within one year from the date on which he obtains title or first occupies the building. Many builders, FHA said, have already delivered a warranty to the purchaser.

Rev. Knowles Is Columbus Speaker

COLUMBUS — The Rev. Rex Knowles, University of Nebraska student minister, will speak at the community-wide services here Sunday evening, Oct. 10.

The services will be held at Pawnee Park Memorial Stadium, starting at 8. The services are scheduled in connection with the annual Columbus Days event sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

The Rev. Mr. Knowles will speak on "The Meaning of Columbus Day."

NORFOLK PLANS VETERANS DAY

NORFOLK — Veterans Day will be held here Thursday, Nov. 11.

Making plans for the event are the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and 40 et 8.

The program will include a parade and patriotic program in the morning and an evening dance.

Committee chairmen are Wayne Cook, George Talmadge and John Jones.

Jansen Scout Charters Given

JANSEN — Two Jansen Scouts have received charters.

Both a Cub Scout Pack and a Boy Scout Troop were presented with the official scrolls.

Plans are being made to organize another Cub Scout pack by spring.

The Jansen Scout organization is believed to be one of the most active in the state. All eligible boys in the town and surrounding area are members of either the Cubs or Boy Scouts.

Farmer Escapes Accident Injuries

ELWOOD, Neb.—Perry J. Umberger, retired Elwood farmer, escaped serious injury and possible death when he rode his tractor into a 20-foot deep silo.

The tractor was equipped with a device to dump rubbish into the abandoned silo pit on his farm west of Elwood. He lost control of the machine at the edge of the pit and plunged into the silo. Umberger was not found until four hours after the accident.

He received a bruised leg and scratched face.

Victor Hugo's Moral Pen Hid Sin-Ridden Real Self

PARIS—Victor Hugo had another side to his character. He was a writer of highly moral novels, like "Les Misérables," and a poet on elevated religious themes.

He was also, is intimate notebooks now show, a patron of prostitutes, seducer of servant girls, and occasional peeping Tom.

His admirers have been surprised but not especially shocked, given the French attitude on such a Grandfather.

Most of the notebooks, by subjects, Henri Guillemin, has attracted little public attention.

Hugo is known in his native land less for his novels than for his poetry, resounding verses of impeccable moral sentiments. In addition to a great deal of work on political and religious themes, they include many impressive eulogies of family life. One volume is entitled "The Art of Being a Grandfather."

Hugo's own order, have been preserved in the French National Library. He apparently wanted them published, or at least available for publication.

Guillemin used it to write several other works on Hugo and has now completed a 150-page study put out by one of the major French publishers (Gallimard). It is called "Hugo et la Sexualité" (Hugo and Sex).

What he found, Guillemin reveals, is "a man abandoned to all temptations, attracted by all women, snatching his pleasure wherever he can." Of all this, Hugo kept careful record. Sometimes it was in a kind of code.

He comments frequently on women's figures, and what he saw, Guillemin notes, was "not always voluntarily offered to his view."

No Shock, No Jolt—And No Sale Either

COLUMBUS, Ind.—In the days when an automobile ride was bumpy enough to shake the fillings from your teeth, inventor M. O. Reeves had a brilliant idea.

Why not, he asked himself, adopt the wheel-truck principle of railroad cars to the auto?

He promptly did just that. The result was the Octoauto, which according to Reeves' favorite advertising slogan had "No Shock, No Jolt, No Bounce, No Rebound." Drivers who dared to take its wheel said the Octoauto rode "like a Pullman Palace Car."

Back when roads were merely rutted paths across the fields, that was something.

"It's a phenomenal car and bound to revolutionize automobile construction where comfort in riding is a consideration," Reeves said.

But this automotive pioneer's dream car had two big drawbacks. First, it cost $5,000—and in 1912 there weren't many people willing to part with that much money—and secondly the tire repair and replacement bill was just twice, obviously what it was for standard cars. During the dawn of the automotive era, tires were extremely expensive and so this second point was a serious matter.

As a result, despite its claims to revolutionary fame, the Octoauto failed to find a market.

C. L. Erwin, an 81-year-old Columbus resident who worked with Reeves, says he doesn't remember what became of the ancient Octoauto.

"It was around here for a good while after M. O. gave it up," he says, "but I guess it finally got reduced to scrap."

Erwin accompanied the inventor on a number of shakedown runs. As he remembers it, the Octoauto did just about everything Reeves claimed it would.

"You'd go over a bump and not even feel it," he recalls. "The extra wheels took up the shock."

Reeves was born in a farm in Rush County, Ind. He was one of three brothers who changed the industrial complexion of Columbus. When he died in 1925 he had more than 100 patents to his credit.

Now 92.3 Per Cent Of U.S. Farms Have REA

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Rural Electrification Administration reported that 92.3 per cent of the nation's farms had electric service as of last June 30. The agency said only 416,172 of the nation's 5,382,134 farms had no electric service last June 30.

Minnesota Demo Rally Frets GOP

Resurgent Democrats scent victory on the comeback trail. The GOP is heeding the advice of Vice President Nixon—running scared. Right now Democratic Sen. Hubert Humphrey, one of those the Republicans would most like to lick, appears to have a definite edge over GOP State Treasurer Val Bjornson in Humphrey's bid for a second term.

Openly to some extent, and even more so in private, Republicans concede they are in trouble in the Senate race. The melancholy isn't complete. Bjornson himself says he has a chance. The husky former news and radio man is a hard campaigner and seasoned orator, and is making a fight of it all the way. Moreover, Republicans are confident of keeping Gov. C. Elmer Anderson in the Minnesota statehouse in the face of a challenge from Orville Freeman, the Minneapolis lawyer Anderson whipped two years ago. And in a state where split ticket voting is not at all exceptional, the Republicans even are eyeing two of the four House seats now held by Democrats.

The Democrats aren't conceding anything. They expect to keep all their House seats. And if Humphrey runs up in the heavy margin they hope, they figure on bouncing one to three of the five House Republicans and perhaps Gov. Anderson, too.

Democratic hopes are riding high on the basis of several factors: For the first time in 10 years since their merger with the Farmer-Labor party, Democrats rolled up more votes than Republicans in the Sept. 14 primary—61,000 more.

Anyone who goes out along the dirt and gravel roads and into the small town finds a Democratic trend among the farmers. Their incomes are down and they are listening to Democrats pounding on the theme that the Eisenhower administration has failed to keep its promises to farmers.

There is unemployment in the northern iron range. Ore boats are idle at Duluth.

How the political parties fare in 1954 apparently depends in large measure on how the farmers feel. At the moment, many of them feel none too friendly toward the Eisenhower farm program.

Randolph By-Pass Nears Completion

Construction is moving rapidly along on the new Randolph St. by-pass from 21st and G to 24th and G. The $110,000 job carries an Oct. 15 completion date but the project has been delayed and may not finish on time. The by-pass will permit the closing of the regular Randolph St. to permit construction of a new activities building for Lincoln High School. The Lincoln school district and city are splitting the cost of the by-pass. (Star Photo.)

She Won Mink Stole But Won't Ever Wear It

CHICAGO (INS)—A woman who won a mink stole said she will never wear it. She explained it won't go with anything in her wardrobe.

The winner is a nun—Sister

Mary Loyola, director of nurses at St. Joseph's Hospital in Bloomington, Ill. The stole was awarded to her at the Illinois State Nurse's Association convention in Chicago for enlisting the most new members—43 of them. Sister Loyola said she hopes to keep the stole a while—just to look at it and stroke it.

Grade School Kids Pick Up Spanish Quickly In Lincoln

By SALLY ADAMS
Star Staff Writer

Ask this question of any of 86 grade-schoolers at Huntington School, and you can be assured of a ready response in Spanish.

For these children are veterans of the first foreign language course to be taught in Lincoln elementary schools.

They serve as proof that youngsters can acquire a "second tongue" more rapidly than their elders.

The classes in Spanish were first organized last year at Huntington. A total of 160 children from third through sixth grade took part in the twice weekly half-hour classes.

Mrs. Martha Gaebel, school principal, said the classes are one part of a program being set up in the Lincoln Public Schools for "curriculum enrichment."

VOLUNTARY COURSE
Spanish was chosen as the language, Mrs. Gaebel explained, since a young woman, Margaret Arriaga, had joined the faculty who was able to teach both Spanish and elementary education.

These requirements were set up for selecting the children to take part in the classes:

1. It must be requested by the parents.
2. The pupil must want to take part in the course.
3. The pupil must have above average grades in other subjects.
4. The pupil must show continued interest in Spanish.
5. The pupil must not drop out of the class until the close of the semester.

Last spring, parents of all pupils in the Spanish classes were called in for an evaluation session. They were almost 100 per cent for continuing the classes, Mrs. Gaebel reported.

The 86 "veterans" are now starting their second year of Spanish instruction. Their same teacher, who is now Mrs. Robinett, is back on the job.

Mrs. Robinett is very enthusiastic about the progress of her little students. She says they have no trouble with articulation, and are accomplishing a great deal.

It is easier for the younger ones to learn a language, she explains.

LEARN BY TALKING
The classes are taught on the conversational level—no text books are involved although the advanced students may use some primary Spanish books this year.

The children learn the names of objects which surround them, the names of foods, Spanish terms for commonplace words—all of which enables them to carry on conversation in the foreign tongue.

Spanish Spoken Here

Nine sixth graders at Huntington School are engrossed in the Spanish tale being told to them, in Spanish, by their teacher, Mrs. Margaret Robinett of 1327½ C. No English is spoken by this

And what do the parents have to say about the classes?
"It gives them fine background for derivation of many words," Mrs. James K. Munnis, of 2511 Somerset, said.

Her daughter, Leslie Ann, 10, seemed to learn very easily, she said. And the classes are taught, she said, so that other subject matter is not slighted.

"We've thoroughly enjoyed the experience," W. E. Haydon, of 5424 Walker, said. "We were very delighted when Evan joined the group."

He said that Evan, 11, uses Spanish as an expressive element in his speech and that it has added considerably to his educational experience.

"It is a wonderful step forward," Mrs. Ivan Conoway, of 3036 No. 50th, said.

PARENTS-KIDS LIKE IT
She said they were very happy to have their sons, Marvin and Billy, participate and they felt it was very worthwhile.

Marvin, 9, a fourth-grader, is back for his second year, but his older brother, now in seventh grade at Northeast Junior High, is not able to continue his Spanish since no courses are offered at that level.

Evan Haydon and Leslie Ann Munnis, sixth-graders, are also back for their second year of Spanish.

In a few weeks, beginners classes for the new third graders and children who have moved into the

Bayard Lutheran Church To Build

BAYARD, Neb. — The voters assembly of Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church of Bayard has decided to build a new church building on its property at the north edge of town.

Plans call for a 32 by 60 foot building. Final plans and the date for beginning of construction have not been set.

Huntington school district will be under way. They are now taking achievement tests which must be graded before those who will take part are enrolled.

Corn Matures With Little Frost Damage

4 Pct. Of Crop Now Husked; Wheat 'Good'

Nebraska's 1954 corn crop has reached maturity without appreciable frost damage, government observers reported.

Except for an occasional field of late planted corn, practically all of the crop had matured by the end of last week, according to the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

Frost Sept. 21 and 22 showed up in low places in northern Nebraska south to the Platte River but there was no damage of consequence in the main corn area.

The new Oct. 1 official estimate on corn yield won't be known until Oct. 11. But Tuesday's crop report said irrigated corn yields ranged from average to very high, with dryland yields varying from light in early corn that was damaged from July heat and drought, to good from medium and later plantings.

Pushing Harvest
About 4 per cent of the corn had been husked by last week end. Farmers are pushing the harvest to minimize the loss from ears falling to the ground because of corn borer damage. Most farmers are planning to pasture harvested corn fields to clean dropped ears.

Most winter wheat is in "very good" condition, the crop report observed.

Recent rains in eastern Nebraska have improved the crop but the western two-thirds of the state needs surface moisture.

Condition of other crops:
Sorghum: Virtually all of the sorghum for grain has matured, a little has been harvested, yields will be very good and a record crop is assured. Sorghum this year replaced some abandoned wheat as well as some corn acreage cut out by allotments.

Soybeans: Harvest is well under way but plants have been slow to dry and considerable green foliage is interfering with combining. As with grain sorghum, acreage is large and yields good.

Pastures: These are dry and have been needing rain since August, with nearly half of the counties reporting short pasture. Recent rains should improve the wheat pasture outlook in the east but the west needs rain.

Dry edible beans: Harvest is nearing completion in western Nebraska.

Potatoes: Harvest of the late commercial crop has started. Yields vary considerably.

Sugar beets: Some harvesting may start this week.

Nearly all counties report an ample supply of feed grains, hay and forage.

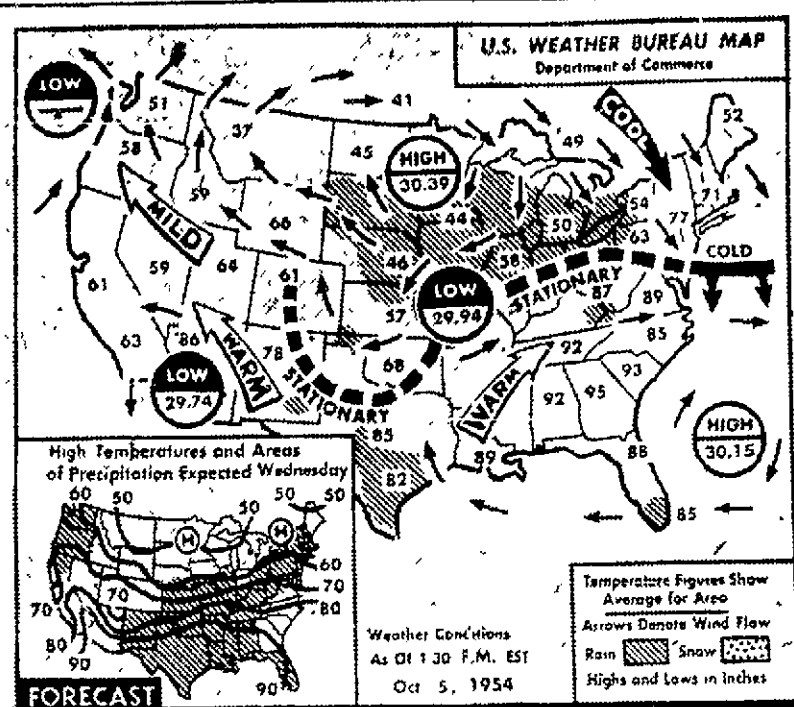

Precipitation throughout the state for the past week included:

Damp, Dank, Dark, Weather To Continue

Rain and scattered showers are expected Wednesday from Maine southward through New York and Pennsylvania to Ohio, Tennessee and mid-Mississippi valleys. Rain and showers are also forecast from Washington to southern California. It will be cooler in the northeast quadrant of the nation and continue cool in upper Mississippi valley and upper Great Lakes region. Continued hot weather is in store for the south Atlantic states. Little change in temperature is anticipated elsewhere. (AP Wire-photo Map).

Crop Hike Offsets Livestock Dip; Ag Price Average Same

Prices which Nebraska farmers receive for the things they produce averaged unchanged during the month ending Sept. 15, government statisticians reported Tuesday.

Declines on livestock were offset by increases in the prices received for crop items, according to the state-federal division of agricultural statistics.

The index of prices received by the state's farmers thus remained a 265, or 6 per cent under the level a year ago.

In general, crop items are up but livestock items are down from the mid-September level last year.

Wheat prices climbed an average of 7 cents a bushel to $2.11 during the month ended Sept. 15. That's 16 cents above the average a year ago.

Oats and barley were up 3 cents a bushel from a month earlier. Corn averaged up 2 cents, rye up 16 cents. The average for all hay stayed at $18.70 per ton, although

Feed, Nutrition Meeting Slated

Dr. C. C. Culbertson of Iowa State College will discuss the recently-developed formula of using hormones in the feeding of cattle at the sixth annual Nebraska Feed and Nutrition Conference in Lincoln, Oct. 12.

The hormone, diethyl stilbestrol, reportedly increases the rate and efficiency of gain, reducing the cattle feeding bill by one-sixth, stimulating the appetite by 15 per cent and producing a superior finish.

Other speakers will be: Dr. Robert Feeny of the University of Nebraska, on "Micro-Elements in Nutrition"; Dr. H. S. Wilgus of the Peter Hand Foundation, Chicago, on "Building Feed Formulas for Maximum Economic Performance"; Dr. R. L. Borchers of the University of Nebraska on "Certain Inhibitors in Feeds"; Dr. Robert H. Grummer, University of Wisconsin, on "Influence of Plane Nutrition of Brood Sow Performance"; Dr. T. W. Dowe of the Nebraska College of Agriculture, on "Beef Cattle Nutrition"; Dr. John Matsushima, University of Nebraska, on "Adding Fats to Feeds."

Armed Services May Start Egg Buying Program

OMAHA (U.S. Rep. Curtis (R-Neb) said he had received word that the armed services are going to initiate an egg buying program. Recently Curtis requested such a program to bolster the egg market for farmers. "I hope that will help the market soon here in Nebraska and elsewhere," Rep. Curtis said.

He added that he had no details on the projected program other than that the armed services would buy and use more eggs.

Phillips 66 brings you the first All-Weather Motor Oil which has proved it meets the most exacting standard ever established for automobile lubrication...

Mil-O-2104, Supplement 1 level.

THE toughest standard ever set up for automobile lubrication is the Mil-O-2104 Supplement 1 test. New TROP-ARTIC is the first all-weather motor oil to meet the requirements of this test. It is an oil which will serve you winter and summer... an oil so good it can double the life of an automobile engine!

Compared to ordinary motor oils, new TROP-ARTIC reduces ring wear 40% or more. It cuts oil consumption 15% to 45%. It keeps pistons and bearings cleaner... longer-lasting. It saves you money by increasing gasoline mileage. This has been demonstrated in tests representing more than 150,000 miles of driving.

TROP-ARTIC is truly an all-weather oil... S.A.E. 10W through S.A.E. 30. Therefore it flows instantly for easy starting at sub-zero temperatures, and yet it retains the film strength necessary to prevent engine wear under high temperature driving conditions. It isn't just heavy duty. It's double duty.

Any car, in any climate, at any time of the year will perform better with Phillips 66 TROP-ARTIC. It is a worthy companion product to Phillips 66 FLITE-FUEL, the new high performance gasoline recently introduced by Phillips. This year of all years it pays to have your car serviced at the station where you see the Phillips 66 Shield.

Wonderful cleaning wax ends floor washing!

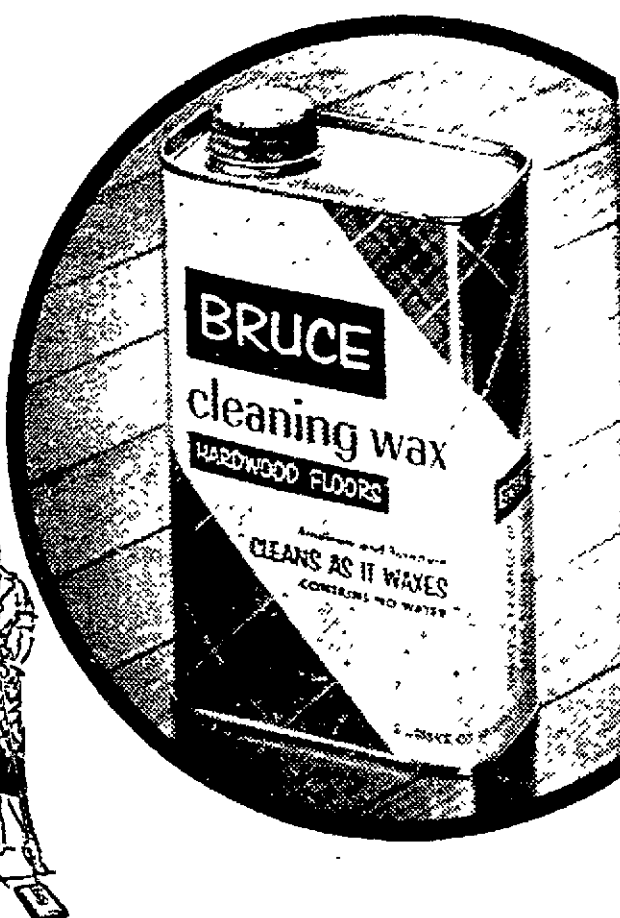

Bruce gets hardwood floors sparkling clean as you wax in one easy operation!

It's the soap and water washing that destroys natural wood floor beauty. So Bruce, the world's largest maker of hardwood floors, perfected this wonderful new cleaning wax that eliminates washing and makes the job lots easier too.

Bruce Cleaning Wax dry-cleans floors actually cleaner than any washing. The dirt, spots and stubborn marks wipe away, leaving a deep, rich coat of fine wax protection that keeps its gleaming lustre through months of wear.

Give Bruce Cleaning Wax a chance to brighten your wood floors. Use it with the long-handled Bruce Doozit, standing up, or with just an ordinary cloth. If it isn't the most wonderful wax you've ever used, your money back.

also—try Bruce Floor Cleaner with lighter wax base for linoleum. Some prefer it for wood floors too.

Lutheran College For West Under Study

Report Will Be Readied For '56 Meet

BEATRICE, Neb. (U) — The American Lutheran Church in its 13th biennial convention here Tuesday approved in principle the establishment of a fully accredited, four-year Lutheran liberal arts college in California.

The board of higher education of the church was instructed to explore the possibilities of co-operation among several church bodies.

A preliminary committee organized in California by representatives of various Lutheran churches will help with the study. A report probably will be presented to the 1956 convention of the American Lutheran Church.

Delegates decided the proposed college "will strengthen Lutheranism in the far west by training additional leadership for the church and nation."

Mission Work Stressed
In other action, Dr. Theodore L. Frike of Columbus, O., executive director of foreign missions for the ALC spoke to the convention on the challenge facing the ALC in India and New Guinea in keeping the doors open for mission work there.

Election returns on some 20 offices in the ALC for which 150 candidates have been named are expected to be announced early Wednesday. Several Nebraska are candidates for important posts.

Following the election committee report, the delegates will take up the proposed merger of the American Lutheran group with three other Lutheran bodies.

Omaha Brakeman Killed In Mishap

OMAHA (U) — Joe F. Bauer, 62, of Omaha, a Union Pacific brakeman, was fatally injured in an accident in the railroad yards at Norfolk Tuesday morning, the railroad reported.

A Union Pacific spokesman said Bauer was riding the side ladder of a coal car which was the lead car in a string of cars being switched in the yards.

As the cars passed the garage of the Chicago Lumber Co., a truck driven by Joe Thurstensen of Norfolk backed out of the garage and into the freight cars. Bauer was crushed under the frame of the coal car. He died before he could be extricated.

In Norfolk County Attorney James Bregan and Deputy County Attorney Eugene McFadden said they are investigating to determine whether an inquest will be necessary.

Four Speakers At Anniversary

Among those attending the 75th anniversary of Immanuel Lutheran Church near Polk were, left to right, the Rev. William Butzke, pastor emeritus, who served Immanuel Lutheran for 25 years; the Rev. Herman H. Hopman, speaker at the morning service; the Rev. John Knippenberg, present supply pastor, who delivered the evening message; and the Rev. O. A. Graebner, speaker at the afternoon service. The Rev. Mr. Butzke was honored for his 60 years in the ministry at the Synod Conference held in Seward this summer. (Photo Special to The Star.)

Special Services Held At Polk On 75th Anniversary Of Church

LINCOLN Star Special
POLK, Neb. — Three services were held at Immanuel Lutheran Church here to mark the observance of the church's 75th anniversary. The church is located southwest of Polk.

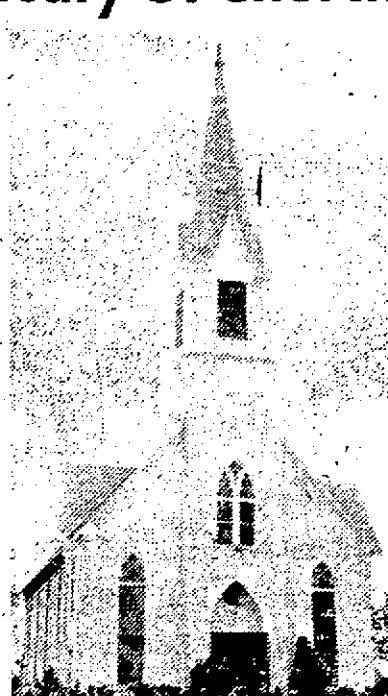

Immanuel Lutheran was organized Feb. 8, 1880, with 12 members. The Rev. G. Burger conducted the first services. At the morning anniversary service, the Rev. Herman H. Hopman, pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran of York, and vice president of the southern Nebraska District, was guest speaker. The Rev. O. A. Graebner, pastor of Trinity Church, Grand Island, delivered the message at the afternoon service.

The Rev. John Knippenberg of Central City, present supply pastor for Immanuel Lutheran, spoke at the evening service. A song service was held at the evening service with special music by the Sunday School, male chorus, ladies chorus, church choir and Christian Day School.

The women of the church served a noon meal to approximately 575 persons, including many out-of-town guests.

One former pastor, the Rev. William Butzke, was present for the anniversary service. He served the church for 25 years, retiring from the ministry in 1936.

In charge of the arrangements for the 75th anniversary day were Henry Schulze, William Blase and Clarence Rahrs.

Rural Church

The present church building serving the congregation of Immanuel Lutheran was built in 1902 at a cost of about $7,000. It is located southwest of Polk. (Photo Special to The Star)

Ike May Give Major October Talk—Nixon

OMAHA (U) — Vice President Nixon has disclosed President Eisenhower probably will make a major campaign speech from somewhere in the Washington, D. C., area about Oct. 20.

Nixon made the statement to reporters at a press conference here in which he said vigorous political speeches—he pointed to Eisenhower's recent Hollywood Bowl address as "exactly right"—are the "proper role for the President in the campaign."

House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck said he hoped the President would make more fighting campaign talks.

Nixon, asked to comment on Halleck's statement, noted that Eisenhower will make a television address from Denver Friday, an election eve address Nov. 1 and probably a third major campaign speech "around the 20th" of this month. Nixon is to introduce the President on TV Friday night.

Confirms Statement
Nixon was asked if his statement that Communists, fellow travelers and security risks are being kicked out of the government by the thousands was based on a report by Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission last March.

The vice president confirmed the statement, repeated several times during his current political barnstorming, was partly based on the Young report.

Young had said 2,429 persons were fired or left government jobs between May, 1953, and the end of that year. He said 422 of them were for subversive reasons.

Nixon said that report was incomplete and went only to December, 1953, and that "great numbers of security risks" had left the government since.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wiley; one brother, Arthur; one sister, Darlene; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wiley of Lexington and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Linden of Oconto.

York-Westmar Merger Details To Be Announced

LINCOLN Star Special
YORK, Neb. — Details of the proposed merger of York College, now closed, and Westmar College in LeMars, Ia., are expected to be made public Wednesday at the conclusion of an official meeting in Lincoln.

Dr. A. V. Howland, former York College president and now vice president of Westmar College, said the primary purpose of Wednesday's meeting would be to review the minutes of the meeting held between representatives of the two schools last week.

Ceylon Justice Showing Keen Interest In American Football

OMAHA (U) — Associate Justice E. F. N. Gratiaen of Ceylon, isn't passing up football, although he's basically here to study the courts. In fact, Justice Gratiaen said here, the study of teams like Oklahoma and California has run a close second to the study of American courts.

"I've seen several of your games and I hope to see more," he related. "I don't know all the details of your game yet, but I could follow most of it easily."

Heads Rugby Union
The game is not exactly a secret to him for he is president of the Ceylon Rugby Football Union and is a former player himself.

"Rugby," said the Ceylon justice, "is a faster game, but I'm sure a good American football player would make a good rugby player. I'm not so sure it would work the other way around."

On the island of Ceylon, he continued, the home teams meet each other and also play teams from India and Australia and while "we don't have your huge stadiums and our crowds are smaller, they are very keen."

Justice Gratiaen spoke before Midland College students at Fremont Tuesday and to the Fremont Optimist Club. On Wednesday he will visit trial courts in Lancaster County and Thursday will be a guest of the State Supreme Court.

Court Chief Justice Robert Simmons who was in Ceylon last year studying the courts there.

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR
Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... only parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it... and here's how they do it:
First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredients go to work—kill Pin-Worms quickly and easily.
Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

G. I. FIRE DEPARTMENT AMBULANCE IS POPULAR

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. — The Grand Island Fire Department's emergency unit continues to do a land office business, according to records released by Fire Chief Richard Evans.

The unit answered 402 calls during the first six months of the year, an increase of 36 calls over the same period in 1953. Not included in the 1954 record is transportation of 73 county medical cases for which no charge was made.

The unit, originally planned for use only in emergency work, now has become the city's ambulance service caring for transportation of all types of medical cases.

Much of the unit's business is transporting non-emergency medical patients to and from home and hospital.

A charge of $5 is made for calls inside the city limits. A flat rate of $6.50 is made on trips not over 14 miles from the city limits. Beyond that point, the charge is 50 cents a mile.

However, patrons of the unit's services frequently forget to pay the fee. Only 371 of the 766 calls made in 1953 have been paid for.

Two men working 24-hour shifts each are assigned to the unit. They are Ralph Mead and Jack Jacobsen. Assisting them are C. W. Schlotfeldt and Don Lanowski. Others are frequently assigned to the unit if a situation calls for additional help.

Lincoln Zoo—A Noah's Ark In Winter

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

The circuses go to Florida, the swallows go back to Capistrano, but the animals and birds in the Lincoln Zoo will remain with the snow and blustering Nebraska cold this winter.

But do not for a minute believe that they will die of pneumonia. They will be kept right where they are—in a protected building with 72 degrees of even heat supplying winter warmth, all except for the beefy buffalo, the hardy deer and the flighty geese.

Two of the latter species will remain out-of-doors on the grasslands of Pioneer's Park. It is only over the flighty geese that Superintendent of Parks James Ager is worried.

The geese are annual victims of migratoryitis. That is when a light of wild south-bound geese honk through Lincoln, the park geese want to go where the wild geese go. So the 30 geese are herded into outside pens at the Lincoln Zoo at Antelope Park.

Another reason, Ager said, is that when the ponds freeze over, dogs come out on the ice and attack the geese. The geese are tempted into feeding houses in November or December, then caught and carried to their temporary winter haven.

The only precautions that Ager must take to winterize the year-round quarters at the zoo are to keep the radiators checked for heat and to keep the cages closed from the outdoors.

They Live It Up
A severe drop in the temperature would produce a few sniffles, especially among the tropical birds. But everything here usually dies of old age, Ager said.

None of the animals sleep off winter like a hangover. And Ager explained that even if the zoo had hibernators, such animals lose their instinct to hibernate in an even-temperated zoo.

Some of the old timers in Lincoln are animals. There is a blue and gold macaw who has been associated with the city for more than 30 years. An alligator has resided in Lincoln 25 years and a squirrel was on show the day the zoo opened its doors in 1938.

Monkeys Ever Popular
As to the popularity of the zoo inhabitants, "people enjoy watching the monkeys," Ager said, "but ask questions about the birds."

The City of Lincoln would have to build two more stories on the zoo if Ager accepted all the offers of various birds and animals.

The current rash of free offerings is from persons who attended the State Fair and won a baby duck. There is a steadier offering of goldfish, turtles and exhausted birds, Ager said. He feels that the native animals and birds would take up space for birds and animals people do not normally see outdoors.

"Animals are expensive," Ager said, pointing to a crane now worth $200, a gibbon worth the same, and smaller monkeys worth $50-$60 apiece.

The park superintendent's daydreams include a future children's section where the tamer animals, such as rabbits, guinea pigs and monkeys could be played with, and a hoped-for chimpanzee, the most intelligent of animals.

He has on order two birds, a toucan and a South American screamer.

Canned Jungle Noise
Zoosters will not have to wait any more to hear the chatter of monkeys or the fog blast of the crown crane.

Ager is planning to install an innovation, presented for the first time in any zoo. A "zoo nickelodion" will be placed in the four corners of the zoo.

A nickel will produce a recording of the sounds—grunts, growls and calls—of the animals and birds.

Ager calls it "an experiment," but hopes that the people of Lincoln will like it.

Monkeys Are The Craziest People

Woolly Willie, a female monkey, is trying to figure out a way to get a free trip to Florida to skip the winter weather. Superintendent of the Parks James Ager is listening to her sad story but is going to say that she will

State Council Names Officers

The October meeting of the Nebraska State Council of Women's Organizations was held Tuesday at the YMCA when new officers were elected by the representatives of the more than 40 state women's groups with membership on the council.

Named president of the council was Mrs. Leonard Campbell of Norfolk, who is president of the Nebraska division of the American Association of University Women. Secretary-treasurer is Miss Rose Baker of Lincoln and Mrs. Charles Sherman of Lincoln is vice president.

Included in the program was

Hears Speaker

The first fall meeting of the St. Leger Cowley chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. C. A. Penton. Following the dinner, Mrs. Lloyd Chapman, regent, presided at the business meeting and a talk was given by Austin Bacon, deputy state director of civil defense.

Autumn Wedding

The chancel of the First Baptist Church at Kearney was lighted by white candles, and appointed with arrangements of white gladioli, for the marriage of Miss Lola Kerwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Kerwood of Kearney, and Henry Junior Amend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Amend of Lincoln, on Sunday, Sept. 12. In the presence of 150 guests, the Rev. Glenn A. P. Peterson read the lines of the service.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Leonard Skov, organist, who also accompanied Mrs. Jean Pedersen, the vocal soloist.

Mrs. Judson Hall of Kearney, as the matron of honor, wore a walk-length frock of emerald green nylon net over taffeta, and costumed identically in champagne net over brown taffeta were the brides matrons, Mrs. Garnsey Weed and Mrs. Kenneth Purdy of Kearney. They carried cascades of gold and bronze-toned chrysanthemums. Frothed in gold and russet net and taffeta were Miss Kathleen Freeman and Miss Kathryn Freeman, who lighted the candles.

a talk on the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs crusade against sex crime and undesirable comic books by Mrs. F. H. Barmore of Lexington, state president, and a report on the world Council of Churches by the Rev. Clarence W. Smith, minister of the Havelock Methodist Church. Miss Carol Fisher, executive director for the county health department, and the Rev. L. C. Pretty, chaplain

PTA Monthly Programs

Members of LAKEVIEW PTA will meet at 8 o'clock Friday evening at the school for the unit's monthly meeting. Guest speaker will be Mrs. A. E. Haneman, past president of the Nebraska PTA Congress, whose topic will be, "Legislation."

Continuing its series of get-acquainted coffees, for PTA members and faculty, HAWTHORNE PTA will hold a 9:30 o'clock coffee Friday morning for the mothers of second grade for the Nebraska Lutheran social service, also addressed the council.

pupils. Faculty members attending will be Mrs. Patsy Ann Holm, Miss Patricia Hammond and Mrs. Francina Jones.

The monthly meeting of SARATOGA PTA was held on Monday when the members elected two new officers of the unit. Mrs. Charles Myers was named secretary, and Mrs. Orval Schreurs, treasurer.

Mrs. John Abbott presided at the meeting during which a report on the membership drive was given.

The Saratoga executive board met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. L. G. Moore to make program plans for the year.

Tuesday was visiting day for the parents of seventh graders at Irving school and during the afternoon, the monthly meeting of IRVING PTA was held with Mrs. Elton Pardee presiding. Following a program by the boys' chorus, tea was served. Mrs. W. L. Williams was in charge of the tea arrangements.

To Hear Talks

The Women's Auxiliary of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will meet at 6:30 o'clock, Monday evening, in parlor A of the Student Union. The program will include talks by four European high school exchange students who will spend a year in Lincoln under the auspices of the American Field Service.

Havelock YWCA

The Havelock YWCA has announced plans for a new series of classes to begin on Tuesday, Oct. 12, at the center. The course, "The Inside Story of Contest-Writing," will be taught by Mrs. Ray Mitchell, and the classes will be held from 7 o'clock to 8 o'clock on the following evenings, Oct. 12, 14, 19, 21, 26 and 28.

Registration for the course will be limited and anyone who is interested is asked to make advance arrangements by calling the center.

Hostesses for the regular meeting of the Havelock Matronettes, to be held at 1:30 o'clock, Friday afternoon, will be Mrs. Dale Ankrom and Mrs. Donald Broman. The members will begin their class in homemakers' hobbies.

Style Lindamood of Lincoln served as best man, and the ushers were Donald Heiliger, Duane Amend and Donald Tyrrell, all of Lincoln.

A reception was held in the church parlors after which the couple left for a trip to the Black Hills. Mr. and Mrs. Amend will reside in Kearney where the bridegroom, a member of Phi Tau Gamma fraternity, is a student at Kearney State Teachers College.

WE'RE IGNORING OCTOBER

WE'VE decided to ignore October — As far as we are concerned it can stand in its corner and sulk for the remaining 25 days. We can be unconcerned, of course, because regardless of atmospheric temperament we can go blithely about the business of harvesting news.

ON our spindle this morning was a notation concerning a Thursday arrival—Mrs. Arthur Harris. Mrs. Harris comes from Warrenton, Va., to spend several days as the guest of her father, Ross P. Curtice.

AND mention of the Curtice family reminds us that Mrs. Norman B. Curtice of Minneapolis is in town this week, visiting her mother, Mrs. George Riser.

YESTERDAY we mentioned the fact that newspaper columnist Doris Fleson would arrive today for a brief visit—but we didn't mention that Miss Fleson is to be honored by the University of Nebraska School of Journalism at a 5 o'clock to 6 o'clock party at Student Union, with the member of Theta Sigma Phi, honorary for women in Journalism, serving as hostesses.

HEARD, too, that Mr. and Mrs. Warren Day have returned from Colorado where they spent two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Day spent the early part of their Colorado holiday at their cabin in Estes Park, and the remainder of the time they joined Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sanders for a motor trip through the mountains.

JUST learned that there is a new member of the family at the home of Dr. and Mrs. William

F. Swindler—Elizabeth Pearl Henrietta Swindler—Betty for short, is just one month old, and moved to her brand new home this week. Chi Omegas are sure that Miss Betty will follow in the footsteps of her mother who is a member of the sorority at the University of Arizona — Dr. Swindler is hoping that the young lady will develop into a journalist—a hope that is easy to understand since he is the director of the School of Journalism at the University.

Zipettes Plan Party

The Zipettes, wives of Xi Psi Phi dental fraternity members on the University of Nebraska campus, will meet at 8 o'clock next Wednesday evening at the Foods and Nutrition Bldg., on the Agriculture College campus. The program theme will be "Tramp Stampede," and members will wear appropriate costumes.

Chairman of the social committee is Mrs. James McCabe.

Entertains At Luncheon

Mrs. G. P. Lint entertained the members of the Lennox Club Wednesday afternoon at her home in Bennet. Following a 1 o'clock covered dish luncheon, the afternoon hours were spent informally.

Guest of the club for the afternoon were Mrs. E. J. Land and Mrs. A. Wasilek.

MORNING

Merle Beattie PTA, 9:30 o'clock coffee for mothers of the first grade morning session.
Girl Scout Council, 9:30 o'clock at the Girl Scout office.
Blue Bird and Camp Fire Girls leaders zone I, 9:30 o'clock at the Havelock Methodist Church.

AFTERNOON

Merle Beattie PTA coffee, 1:30 o'clock for mothers of afternoon kindergarten session.

Randolph PTA, 1:30 o'clock coffee for mothers of sixth graders.

EVENING

NCO Wives Club, 7:30 o'clock at the NCO Club, Lincoln Air Force base.

Mrs. JayCees swimming group, 7 o'clock at the YWCA pool.
Zipettes, 8 o'clock party at the Foods and Nutrition Building, College of Agriculture campus.

Holmes PTA, 7:30 o'clock meeting for parents of third grade pupils.

La Sertoma, 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. F. J. Minard, 2428 Sewell.

Marriage Solemnized

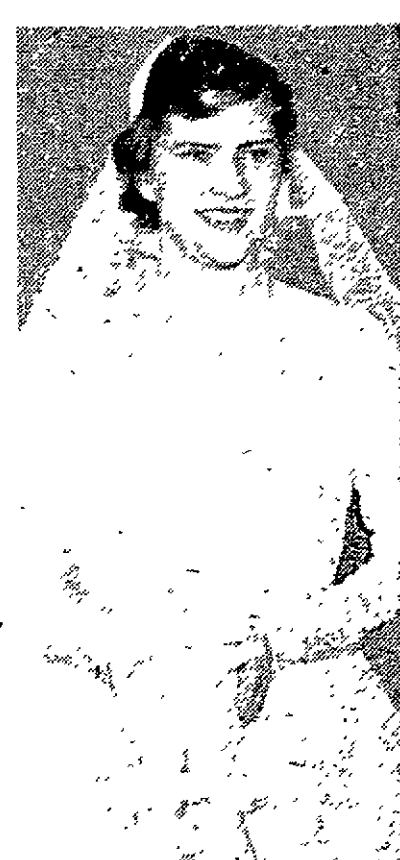

Mrs. Elinor Roesler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roesler of Tobias, became the bride of Gene Vejraska, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Vejraska of Ohio, at an evening ceremony which took place Friday, Aug. 20, at Zion Lutheran Church in Tobias.

In the presence of 250 guests, the Rev. Edward Beckler read the lines of the service.
The bride appeared in a walk-length gown of white lace and tulle over satin. Long, fitted sleeves accented the snug bodice of lace, and beneath a draped overskirt of the lace, the tulle skirt was shirred into fullness. A tiny cap of lace and satin held her illusion veil, and she carried a white prayer book ornamented with a single orchid and showered with white carnations and stephanotis.

Mrs. Franklin Holtmier was the matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Velores Meyer and Miss Kathryn Vejraska, sister of the bridegroom.

Serving his brother as best man was Melvin Vejraska, and the ushers were Jim Roesler and Edward Roesler, brothers of the bride.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

MRS. GENE VEJRASKA

Mr. and Mrs. Vejraska are residing in Lincoln.

Attractive Trio

Arriving on Saturday from Aberdeen, Md., were Mrs. Donald Devries Jr., and the two small Devries sons, Bill (left) and exceedingly young David Allen, who are the guests of Lt. Devries's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Devries. Mrs. Devries and her sons were joined in Lincoln on Tuesday by Lt. Devries who has 30 days leave before going to Germany where he is to be stationed.

Mrs. Devries and the children will go from Lincoln to North Platte where, during the lieutenant's absence, they will be guests of Mrs. Devries's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Smith.

League Names New Members

The Junior League of Lincoln held its opening meeting of the fall following a luncheon Tuesday afternoon at the Hotel Cornhusker at which time new members of the league were announced.

The provisional members include Mrs. William Ammon (Barbara Groff), Mrs. Sidney Bradley, Jr., (Barbara True), Miss Lorraine Leland Coryell, Mrs. Gene C. Eaton (Marjorie Olson), Mrs. William Edwards (Mary Lee Tomlinson), Mrs. Edward Faytinger (Shirley Jean Johnson), Mrs. Ted Frazer (Mary Desmonds), Mrs. Richard Freeman (Doris Nielsen), Mrs. Bruce Fullerton (Betty Jean Frankforter), Miss Sara Fulton, Mrs. Gene Gessner (Nancy Stebbins), Mrs. Jack Guenzel (Suzanne Burgess), Mrs. Al Larson (Esther Louise Lefler), Mrs. Oliver Magee (Ann Chapman), Mrs. Jack Phillips (Joan Selleck), Mrs. Harold Salisbury (Shirley Wright), Mrs. Joseph Silverman (Helen Speier), Miss Barbara Stephens, Mrs. Jack Trombly (Vecella Jones), Mrs. Ralph Tyler (Betty Jean Bepson), Mrs. Jack Wagener (Rosemary Kimball), and Miss Marion Whitworth.

BSP Members Hold Meeting

Miss Helen Coleman, president, conducted the regular meeting of Iota Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, held earlier this week at the chapter rooms, when the members elected Mrs. Raymond Fix vice president of the group.

Plans for the coming year and for rush parties were discussed, and announcement was made that Mrs. Fix will be hostess for the first party. Mrs. Vernon Fahrbruch presented the program following the dinner.

Delta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Monday evening at the chapter rooms when the program, "Your Day, Socially," was presented by Mrs. Sylvia Koll. Miss Marjorie Speidell presided at the meeting.

Plans were discussed for a rush party to be held Wednesday, Oct. 13 at the home of Miss Virginia Thompson. Assisting hostess will be Miss Meredith Sittner.

Wet, Enthusiastic Residents Greet Lincoln Sowers' Tour

Lincoln Star Special
NORFOLK, Neb.—Small but enthusiastic crowds greeted the Lincoln Sowers, Chamber of Commerce goodwill group, as they traveled through north central Nebraska under cloudy, rainy skies Tuesday.

About 100 persons were on hand for the dinner in Norfolk Tuesday night. Richard Chapin was Sowers' master of ceremonies and Ray Ramsay, chief speaker for the Sowers.

Music was provided by Pat Burt and his one-man band, accompanied by Bob Stephens and Norman Prucha, playing banjos, and Jim Fris, the accordion.

The first stop of the day was at Valparaiso where the group was met by about 200 persons led by Harry F. Porter, Chamber secretary. The high school band was on hand directed by Robert Wallace. School was dismissed.

300 At Prague

Approximately 300 persons greeted the Sowers as Prague. They were escorted into town by the city fire truck. They were met by Mayor Amiel Chmelka and many school children.

Leading the delegation of 400 at North Bend were Kenneth Davis, chamber president; C. R. Brown, school superintendent; and Don Parmenter, chamber secretary. The brand-new high school band, directed by Bob Olsen and Drum Majorette Shirley Krumm, was on hand. School was dismissed.

The Sowers were met by about 150 persons led by Mayor Frank Rea at Schuyler.

Leaf Relief Is Problem

The city's leaf problem this fall will be relieved with the purchase of a new leaf loader but no complete cure is at hand.

Superintendent of Streets Lynn Myers reported that he will ask the City Council to determine this year's program. In past years, the department has picked up leaves in gutters but has forbidden property owners to rake leaves from their yard into the street.

Even with the new loader, Myers said, it is doubtful if raking of leaves into gutters will be permitted. While the one machine will help, he said, it will not be enough to solve the problem entirely.

Bids are scheduled to be received on the new loader Oct. 6 with the machine to be delivered immediately thereafter.

New Housing Warranty Is Now In Effect

WASHINGTON, (AP) — The warranty provision of the new housing law, designed to protect the buyers of new homes from shoddy workmanship or inferior materials, has gone into effect.

The Federal Housing Administration said the requirement will be effective on all builders who obtain commitments for FHA mortgage insurance on one- to four-family homes which are cleared for mortgage insurance before the start of construction.

The builder must issue a warranty to the buyer that the dwelling is built in "substantial conformity" with the plans and specifications on which FHA bases its regulation.

If a home owner finds that his house falls short of specifications, he must give written notice to the builder within a year from the date on which he obtains title or first occupies the building. Many builders, FHA said, have always delivered a warranty to the purchaser.

The law provides for a similar warranty on homes for which the Veterans Administration guarantees the mortgage.

NU Faculty Senate Will Consider Proposal For Athletic Committee

By GLENN SPEIDEL
Star Sports Staff Member

The University of Nebraska Faculty Senate at its next meeting Tuesday will take up a proposal that a Senate Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics be formed.

The responsibility of the committee, according to information given to Senate members, would be to study and recommend policies for improvement of intercollegiate athletics. But the new group apparently would in no way duplicate the old Athletic Board.

Last June 29 the University Board of Regents repealed a section of its by-laws providing for a Board of Intercollegiate Athletics, which previously had controlled the administration of the Athletic Department at the University.

Authority to Orwig

The action vested the authority formerly held by the Athletic Board including the power to hire and fire, and to set policy, in the Director of Athletics, Bill Orwig.

But the action by the Regents in abolishing the Athletic Board also included a recommendation for such a committee as is contemplated by the Senate, which would recommend only.

Rules of the Big Seven Conference, of which Nebraska is a member, provide for faculty control of intercollegiate athletics. Colorado has a body similar to the proposed committee, while others in the conference have groups more similar to the old Athletic Board.

The Faculty Senate, which is to consider formation of the new committee, is made up of all full-

Weather Hurting Huskers

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Coach Bill Glassford looked out the window of the University of Nebraska Field House Tuesday afternoon, scowled, and said with emphasis:

"This weather has thrown us back. We've got a lot of work to do on fundamentals."

With the Kansas State Wildcats due to arrive for a Saturday engagement at Memorial Stadium—eager to make it two straight over the Cornhuskers, Glassford has cause to feel unkindly toward the elements.

But the cold, wet weather Tuesday didn't keep the Huskers from going outside—at least for a while.

Work Outside

After working in the field house on details (assignments, blocking, etc.), the Big Red troops were shepherded out onto the soggy practice field for full scale drills on pass defense and punting under sullen, misty skies.

"We're going to work like the devil on our pass defense," Glassford said. "We've got to try and get some aggressiveness in that department."

Nebraska's two opponents this fall—Minnesota and Iowa State—have completed 15 passes for a total of 184 yards, with only one interception being registered by the Huskers—Willie Greenlaw's spectacular theft against the Gophers.

No Changes

No changes in the Nebraska lineups are planned for the Kansas State game, except possibly the No. 2 unit center spot. Bob Berguin and LaVerne Torczon, both sophomores, are still battling it out for the job.

Rex Fischer is definitely out of the Wildcat tussle, but everybody else is slated for full duty—baring late injury in practice.

Glassford indicated that Jim Venable, veteran fullback who has been out of action after an operation on his knee, will be able to start running in about two weeks. But whether or not he can round into shape to play this season remains to be seen.

Kansas State's two-deep lineups arrived Tuesday. Here's the way the Wildcats stack up (by position and with weights):

Right guard—Ron Marciniak (195) and George DeBittetto (194).

Right end—Tom Ebert (214) and Ed Lunta (195).

Quarterback—Bob Whitehead (150) and Jim Logsdon (170).

Fullback—Doug Roether (185) and Bill Carrington (198).

The K-State line averages 208 and the backs 169 for a 194 team average, while Nebraska's line averages 200 and the backfield 182.

Back To Basketball

"Mr. Basketball," George Mikan, announced his return to the game Tuesday after a two-week retirement. Starting his eighth season with the Minneapolis Lakers, Mikan assumes the duties of vice president and general manager, after the purchase of interests formerly held by Max Winter. (UP Telephoto.)

Coach Says 19-Year-Old Passer 'Has Everything'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 19-year-old "family man" from Purdue, Lenny Dawson, engineered a smashing upset of Notre Dame last Saturday and earned the designation as the first Associated Press "Back of the Week" for the 1954 football season.

There wasn't even an argument about his selection, although two others, Dicky Moegele of Rice and Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy of Ohio State, received strong support from the experts.

Dawson, one of 11 children of an Alliance, Ohio, pottery plant worker, was just an unheralded sophomore quarterback until Purdue's opening game against Missouri. Now he's the possessor of a two-game passing record of 18 completions in 29 attempts for 8 touchdowns.

He modestly tries to give the credit to the whole Purdue team, but his coach, Stu Holcomb, says Lenny "has everything."

Family Affair

Five of Lenny's six brothers were on hand to see him operate against Notre Dame, certain he'd give them something to cheer about. He did. Dawson merely completed 7 of 12 passes for 185 yards, made 4 of them good for touchdowns, intercepted one pass and kicked 3 of 4 conversions for a 27-14 victory. He also pitched four touchdown passes against Missouri.

At 19, Dawson still looks like a lanky kid. He's 6 feet and weighs 178. But he's married and the father of a baby daughter, Lisa Anne.

Lenny does most of his passing on a dead run from the tricky pass patterns concocted by Holcomb and he claims these patterns and his receivers are responsible for his success. But in his senior year in high school he connected on 100 of 200 passes tossing for 19 touchdowns. He was captain of his team, all-state quarterback in Ohio and also captained the basketball and baseball teams.

Earns Own Fame

Moegele, the fleet Rice halfback who gained fame of a sort last New Year's Day when Alabama's Tommy Lewis bounced off the bench to tackle him during the Sugar Bowl game, got his nomination strictly on his own merits Saturday.

Playing less than half the game against Cornell, Dicky scored 4 touchdowns on runs of 18, 40, 10 and 78 yards. He gained 168 yards by rushing, caught 2 passes for 18 and returned 2 punts for 30.

Cassidy, Ohio State's 20-year-old, 168-pound halfback, out-gained the whole California team, 104 yards to 101, on the ground, caught 4 passes for 50 yards and intercepted a pass.

Said California Coach Lynn Waldorf: "He might just be the best back in the country."

Flippin Named

Others mentioned in the Back of the Week balloting were Royce Flippin of Princeton, Fred Duval of Oklahoma A&M, Sonny Jurgensen of Duke, Charles Sumner of William and Mary and Bill Tarr of Stanford.

Flippin, described by Lou Little as a "throwback to the old fashioned single-wing tailback," came close to Dick Kazmaier's Princeton ground-gaining record as he scored three touchdowns and passed for one against Columbia.

Jurgensen, a sophomore, came off the bench to engineer Duke's winning score against Tennessee. The tiny Sumner scored twice, once on a 93-yard run, and passed for a touchdown against Pennsylvania and Tarr scored one touchdown and intercepted a pass to set up another in Stanford's 12-2 upset of Illinois.

Pitt: We'll Bounce Back Against Irish

By JOE BRADIS

PITTSBURGH (AP)—"Two poor performances don't mean a football team is through. We'll bounce back and it will be no later than Saturday afternoon against Notre Dame."

That assertive statement was voiced by Capt. Tom Hamilton, Pitt's athletic director, at a noon luncheon Tuesday for newsmen.

The luncheon is a weekly get-together to thrash out the pros and cons of the preceding week's football game. Coach Lowell (Red) Dawson wasn't there.

Dawson also wasn't available after last week's 46-7 drubbing at the hands of an underdog Minnesota team. But he did leave a chalk-scribbled note on the blackboard reading:

"We played for only 30 minutes."

So Hamilton took over for Dawson and the former Navy man really battered down the hatch.

"The season is only two nights gone," fumed Hamilton. "We've still got seven to go. We've got a good football team. We'll show 'em and it won't be later than Saturday afternoon."

"We're battering down the hatch and fighting this storm. I have full confidence in the kids. They're darn good competitors and they'll show 'em."

"I'm no Pollyanna. We're going to play good football. The kids haven't found themselves but they will. I've got 100 per cent confidence in them and the coaching staff."

Speaking of the coaching, the Panther's athletic board gave Dawson a vote of confidence Monday night at a meeting which Hamilton described as "spontaneous" on the part of the nine-member committee.

But the committee also will meet today. And Hamilton, waving no words, told the luncheon, "We don't want you (the press) around."

Hamilton said it will be an executive session, meaning everybody on the board will be there. What they'll talk about is anybody's guess.

Rams 'Amused' By Dirty Play Charge From 49ers

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Rams indicated more wry amusement than distress Tuesday over "dirty football" charges hurled their way by the San Francisco 49ers.

Coach Hampton Pool said a minute study of the game movies refute the 49ers' broad accusations stemming from the 24-24 tie battle which cost both teams heavily in casualties.

Texas Schramm, assistant to President Dan Reeves, said he didn't care to carry on the debate, but noted:

"Let 'em talk about last week's game. We're too busy getting ready for our next opponent."

The next, the champion Detroit Lions at Detroit Sunday.

The racked-up list includes quarterback Y. A. Tittle and guards Art Michalk and Don Burke of the 49ers, and the Rams' offensive end, Bob Carey.

Carey is out for the season with a broken leg, suffered when he fell blocking for his teammate, Skeet Quinan.

Tittle broke his left hand—throws with the right—and Michalk and Burke apparently are through for the year with torn knee ligaments.

Movies Show Play

Tittle's break apparently came on the second play of the game. Throwing to end Billy Wilson, the films show that Tittle was hit and downed by Rams Andy Robustelli and Bud McFadin just as he completed the forward motion of his right arm.

Burke, the movies show, was hurt when he fell over his own teammate, Clay Matthews, and Michalk was injured on a legal block from in front by Bobby Cross while the play was still in progress.

The one flagrant foul came when Ram Bob Griffin dove into and floored 49er Joe Perry after Perry had missed a pass and the play was over. The Rams were duly penalized 15 yards.

Tony Morabito, 49er owner, started the debate when he declared, "If that's the kind of football they want, that's what they'll get."

Capt. Bruno Banducci followed up with, "I never saw a dirtier bunch of guys in my life."

Longhorns To Try Recapture Grid Prestige

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texas, cast in an unfamiliar giant-killer role, will try to recapture its lost grid prestige Saturday against Oklahoma Sooners in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

The Longhorns, perennial Southwest Conference favorites, have dropped to 15th in the latest Associated Press weekly poll. The Sooners are currently No. 1 in the national rankings.

Texas faded out of the football spotlight after losing to Notre Dame, 21-0, two weeks ago in South Bend. The Longhorns have won decisive victories over Louisiana State and Washington State.

Oklahoma, still undefeated, opened with a win over California and followed with a last-minute victory over Texas Christian. The Sooners had an open date last Saturday.

Coach Ed Price enjoys the underdog billing his Longhorns have received. Texas rarely gets a chance to shoot for a major upset although the Longhorns have pulled several surprise wins in the past.

In 1937 Texas celebrated Dana X. Bible's first year as coach by defeating Baylor's Rose Bowl expression, 9-7.

The Longhorns edged Texas A&M's defending national champions in 1940, 7-0, after the Aggies had won 19 straight and were California-bound.

With a sophomore team in 1949, Texas broke a four-game losing streak to wallop undefeated Baylor, 20-0. The Bears were guided by quarterback Adrian Burk, now leading the Philadelphia Eagle passing attack.

Southern Methodist, ranked first in the nation, met its first defeat in 1950 at the hands of the Longhorns, 23-20.

Husker Frosh Deep At Guard

University of Nebraska's freshman football team, preparing for a two-game schedule (Kansas State here October 22 and Iowa State at Ames Nov. 5) are best equipped at the guard position, according to Freshman Coach Bob Farris.

"We have some lads with size who can and want to move," he said. "They possess both toughness and desire."

Among the guard candidates who have been standing out are Bob McIntyre and Douglas Kelly, former Omaha North players; Don Kampe, Red Oak, Ia.; Leo George, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; John Yuss, Charleroi, Pa.; Joe Sadowski, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; John Daniels, Erie, Pa.

The Husker frosh will be without their two top tackle candidates, however. Phil Erickson, West Allis, Wis., is being released this week from the hospital after an emergency appendectomy. Jerry Wheeler (6-1 and 245) from Milan, Ill., suffered a recurrence of a knee injury. He will be operated on during the holidays to keep Wheeler from missing time in class.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant
Sports Editor, The Star

Colorado looks like the Big Seven team to beat for the spot in the Orange Bowl—at least at this stage of the season.

After three games—admittedly weak opposition—the Buffaloes are still unscored upon and at the present time lead the nation in rushing offense with a 368-yard average.

Nebraska ranks 12th with a 275-average in two games.

Individually, too, the Bufts are pacing the field. Frank Bernardi, John Bayuk and Homer Jenkins are the Big Seven's three top ball carriers, while Jenkins, Carroll Hardy, Bayuk Bernardi and Sam Mapus are among the top six scorers.

What with everybody ignoring Oklahoma—the Sooners can't go to Miami this year even if they win (and who's to stop them)—Oct. 23 and Nov. 6 look like dates that could decide the Orange Bowl representative.

Nebraska plays at Boulder on the 23rd of this month, while the Bufts meet Missouri on the November date. With Iowa State, Kansas State (after Missouri's win), Kansas and Oklahoma figured out of the running, it boils down to a three-team race—with the Bufts having a head start.

Terry Brennan, the Notre Dame football coach who recently got his lumps after opening with a bang, tells this one about his former coach Frank Leahy.

It seems that a heavy rain was falling on the afternoon Leahy had planned a rough scrimmage session. As the players were lounging around the locker room, happy at the thought of not scrimmaging, Leahy entered and took note of the atmosphere.

Without batting an eye, the great Irish coach told the team:

"Let's go boys. The Lord has been good to us today. He has given us the opportunity to practice in the rain."

Take the cold, rainy weather of late and mix it with the flight of some 100 ducks we saw winging over Oak Lake the other day and you have a hint of the things to come.

For some reason, the setting gave us the old hunting fever. It won't be long, you know.

Karl Pecht, superintendent of school at Loup City writes us that his high school just missed getting a Class D rating by two boys.

"Ord is the team to beat around here," says Pecht, "and all we have to do to meet Geneva in the trans-Nebraska playoff is to beat Ravenna. Broken Bow AND Ord—which looks like a large order."

Baseball finale: Biggest disappointment of the World Series (Cleveland, of course, which we and about everybody else picked to win) was Al Lopez's refusal to give Bobby Feller a chance to post a Series victory. Wouldn't he have been just as good a choice as already once-beaten Bob Lemon in the last game?

Waverly's Ensminger Is Top Star

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

Waverly High's Vikings won their fourth consecutive football game of the season last Friday when Don Ensminger broke loose on a 45-yard touchdown run in the final quarter against Louisville.

Today Ensminger leads The Star's list of prep football stars of the week.

Two minutes were left in the game when Ensminger galloped for the points which broke a 20-20 tie and gave Coach Rollie Wieggers' Vikings a 27-20 victory.

Ensminger also scored the first Waverly touchdown. He ran 10 yards to send his team into a first quarter lead.

Among the other Nebraska prep-pers who had big nights were these:

Bob Malesk, Red Willow—He ran for touchdowns of 70, 65 and 55 yards in a 39-6 victory over Bartley.

Larry Cook, Chester—This 190-pound back led the unbeaten Bulldogs on the ground and in the air in a close Stephen

Don Miller, Davenport—This boy kicked the extra point which sent Davenport into a 7-7 tie with Clay Center. In the fourth quarter he tackled a C.C. back in the end zone for a safety and a 9-7 Davenport triumph.

Roger Peterson and Dick Overholser, Holdrege—The Duster fields were the difference in the 7-0 Holdrege win over Curtis.

Fairy Sims, Huntley—Five for six was his pass catching record as Huntley, lined Kansas, 19, receiving added 200 yards to the Huntley attack.

Dick Young, Bassett—His three touchdowns sparked the 35-12 win at Springfield. He ran 78 yards on a kickoff and 50 yards from scrimmage.

Levor Plath, Dwight—This three touchdowns were too much for Shelby.

Tom Hazman and Tom Rindolf, Chadron—Their defense and play was important in the checkmate of undefeated Geneva's ground play. Geneva rushed for only 44 yards and lost the game 13-7.

Mike Lee, Lincoln—He was the star of the fullback wrecked Grand Island with three touchdowns.

Keith Everts, Geneva—His catch of a pass and subsequent 50-yard sprint into the end zone sealed the perfect Wildcat record with a 13-7 win over Geneva.

Duane Vassel, Deuel—His defensive play and three TD's were the key. He had in the 27-21 loss to Cortland.

Jim Rabe, Plymouth—He was the star of an arm man Plymouth victory over Alexander.

Bob Leach, Hard—Snuckley could not stop him. Today in 12-7 Hard won.

Art Zimmerman and Harlan Steffen, Fillmore—Zimmerman was the passer, and Steffen the receiver. They sent Fillmore again, 38-20 over Lexington.

Faces Norkus Tonight

Big Charley Powell, who spent several seasons with the San Francisco 49ers football team, displays the fighting stance he will use in his televised bout with

Charley Norkus in San Francisco tonight. Powell has won 12 fights and lost none in his pro career. (UP Telephoto.)

Ex-Gridder Faces First Tough Ring Battle In Norkus Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (U-P)—

Charley Powell, the former professional football player who has the heavyweight division buzzing after 12 fights, faces his first really stiff test here tonight in a scheduled 10-rounder with Charley Norkus of Port Washington, N.Y.

The battle will be nationally televised (9 p.m. CST). It will be Powell's initial showing before a countrywide screen audience.

Powell, 22 and 6-3, starred as a defensive end for the San Francisco 49ers before trading football gear for boxing gloves. He is expected to weigh 212 for this bout.

The former high school athlete of San Diego is being talked up as a challenger to champion Rocky Marciano after a dozen fights. Veteran ringfighters are reserving judgment until they see Powell tagged on the chin with some heavy punches.

Norkus, the most experienced opponent Powell has come up against, weighs 196 and throws a powerful right. He's scored 14 knockouts in 36 fights.

"I've spoiled some other guys who were regarded as up-and-coming geniuses," Norkus said, "and I intend to do the same thing with this upstart."

Powell never fought as an amateur. He was held to a draw in his first match, broke his hand and was laid off for a year. He returned to action last February and has won 11 straight, the last 10 by kayoes. He has had to fight only 33 rounds since he started.

It will pair off a couple of wild swingers. Norkus has won 8 of his last 9, his latest victim being Cesar Brion of the Argentine. Among other opponents, Powell stopped bulky Frank Buford in two rounds. The latter had gone nine with Ezzard Charles. Last month, Powell knocked out Keene Simmons in six. Simmons had served as sparring partner for Marciano.

The champion will be among the interested spectators tomorrow night. So will be his manager, Al Weill, Suey Welch, Powell's manager, has told Weill that Marciano and Powell would draw a million dollar gate in the Los Angeles coliseum next summer if Powell continues his winning ways. Marciano, incidentally, will serve as a referee in one of tonight's preliminaries.

Former middleweight champion Gorilla Jones, who trains Powell, thinks his protege throws punches faster than any of the other heavies now active. He's a strong left-hander but hits harder with his right.

The fight will be held in the Civic Auditorium. Two judges and a referee will decide it under the California point scoring system of 11 points to the round—if it goes the distance.

Duck Season Opens Friday; Prospects Said 'Pretty Good'

Hunting prospects are "pretty good" for the 60-day waterfowl season which opens in Nebraska at noon Friday, Secretary Paul Gilbert of the State Game Commission said Tuesday.

Reports from the sand hills indicate there was a pretty good hatch this year, Gilbert said.

During the first few days of the season, hunters will find mostly the small ducks and geese native to Nebraska and South Dakota.

The Canadian geese and the big mallards will be down from the north later.

The ponds generally are in a little better shape than last year, due to recent rains. This will make better hunting, Gilbert said.

On the opening day, hunting is from noon until sunset. On remaining days of the season, shooting may begin a half hour before sunrise, and ends at sunset.

The 1954 waterfowl season lasts through Dec. 6.

Daily bag limit is five and possession limit is 10 for ducks. Possession limit for geese is only five.

The squirrel, rabbit and raccoon seasons are now open in Nebraska, and last through the end of the year or later.

The pheasant season opens Oct. 16, with bag and possession limit of two birds. Gilbert said reports indicate pheasant hunting should be a little better than first believed.

Retained as coaches were Ray Blades, one of Matthews' hand-picked lieutenants two years ago, and two former Cub players, pitcher Dutch Leonard and catcher Bob Scheffing. They will be starting their second coaching seasons.

Started At Des Moines

Hack spent five years managing in the Cubs' farm system at Des Moines of the Western League, Springfield, Mass., then of the International League, and Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League.

He won one pennant, at Des Moines in 1948, and never finished as low as seventh until this year with the Cubs.

The tobacco-chewing, easy-going Hack guided Los Angeles to third in 1953 and was named Cub manager during 1954 spring training in March when Phil Cavarretta, another of the club's veteran stars, suddenly was released.

Cavarretta, whose Cubs also wound up seventh in 1953, later was signed by the Chicago White Sox and played brilliantly this season as a pinchhitter and utility first baseman. He recently became the first Sox player to sign for 1955.

The Cubs have failed to hit the first division since slipping to third place in 1946 after winning the 1945 pennant under the direction of Charlie Grimm. Frankie Frisch succeeded Grimm in 1949 as manager and stayed around until Cavarretta was named in 1951.

Matthews said: "I'll trade our stars, including (pitcher) Bob Rush, but not the two kids (Ernie Banks and Gene Baker)."

Stan Hack, Staff Get New Contracts

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (U-P)—Booyish-looking Stan Hack and his entire coaching staff were given a rousing vote of confidence by the Chicago Cubs' front office Tuesday in the form of new one-year contracts.

Terms were not disclosed in the announcement of the 1955 arrangements by Wid Matthews, director of player personnel, after conferring with owner P. K. Wrigley.

Hack, affable 44-year-old veteran who rose through the Cubs chain of command after serving a steady 14 years for the club as a third baseman, will be entering his second season as manager.

The Cubs finished seventh under him this year, winning 64 and losing 90. They were 33 games behind the National League pennant-winning New York Giants and 11 out of the first division.

Retained as coaches were Ray Blades, one of Matthews' hand-picked lieutenants two years ago, and two former Cub players, pitcher Dutch Leonard and catcher Bob Scheffing. They will be starting their second coaching seasons.

Matthews said: "I'll trade our stars, including (pitcher) Bob Rush, but not the two kids (Ernie Banks and Gene Baker)."

The Cubs now appear to be rebuilding and since the end of the season they have made shifts involving 10 players.

Gov. Shivers Blasts Both GOP And Demo Policies

NEW ORLEANS (U. S. — Texas Gov. Allan Shivers said Tuesday night that for the "last time" the big national political parties have made the South "crawl in humiliating submission."

He called on all 48 states to join in a battle for state's rights, "the last great safeguard of our individual liberty."

The 47-year-old Texas governor, one of the leaders in the Southern revolt against Adlai Stevenson in 1952, said the South has been too long ignored by one great party and too quickly forgotten by the other.

His challenge came in a speech at a testimonial dinner honoring Gov. Robert Kennon of Louisiana. Kennon was another Southern Democratic governor who supported

Gov. Shivers

New Crusade

Shivers recently won renomination as governor on a platform calling for a new crusade by the South and Southwest to win party recognition at the 1956 Democratic National Convention. In his speech Tuesday night he spared neither party in his sharp criticisms.

Shivers said both parties have followed the "divisive practices" of emphasizing class, color and creed in all their decisions.

"The evils of which we speak are present in both of the major national political parties," Shivers said. "The South has been too long ignored by one, too quickly forgotten by the other."

In both parties the habit is to ask the people of the South and West to underwrite a program which, in the final analysis, is almost wholly controlled by the interests of a narrow geographic area in the North and East."

Shivers said he has no desire to abandon the two-party system but wants to work through the existing parties "to bring to an end the present cynical and self-serving exploitation of class, color and creed interests which characterize both parties."

For too long and the "last time," Shivers said, the legally-chosen officials of the Southern states "have been forced to crawl in humiliating submission before the national conventions."

"The South henceforward is unlikely to commit its support without demanding the full measure of recognition and participation to which it is entitled," Shivers said. At the recent state convention in Texas, Shivers called on the South and Southwest to team up and pool their strength to match the North-East bloc in national party affairs. He widened this appeal in his speech here, saying the same threats to basic rights apply to citizens in all the states.

State Procedural Conference Asked By Bar Association

A special committee on administrative agencies will report to the Nebraska State Bar Association at its meeting in Omaha, Oct. 14 and 15 a recommendation that the governor call a conference to develop solutions to procedural problems.

It is pointed out that many administrative agencies with broad regulatory powers have been created in the last decade without attention to procedural matters. Judicial review to make uniform, certain and impartial findings is favored.

The committee favored not less than 20 members at the conference with representatives from each agency, a Lancaster county district judge, members of the Legislature, responsible citizens and several members of the state bar. It suggested that a Supreme Court justice be named chairman.

Wm. Bischoff's Name Ruled Off Ballot

Secretary of State Frank Marsh has been ordered in Lancaster District Court to certify the name of R. C. Johnson of Mead as the only eligible candidate for director of Subdivision 7, Eastern Nebraska Public Power District.

A peremptory writ of mandamus, issued by Judge John L. Folk following hearing directs the exclusion of the name of "Wm Bischoff" from the Nov. 2 ballots.

The State ex rel suit, brought by Delmer O. Robinson, mayor of Mead, alleged that Bischoff represented in himself as a resident of Wahoo in filing for the post, where in fact he was a resident and registered voter of Nebraska City.

Robinson said Bischoff was refused a ballot at Wahoo on grounds he was not a resident and elector, and that Bischoff then returned to Nebraska City and voted in the Aug. 10 primary.

Asst. Atty. Gen. H. G. Hamilton, representing Marsh, stipulated a confessed judgment as to the relator's allegations, but contended injunctive relief was the proper remedy in the case.

Judge Folk overruled Hamilton's demurrer to the application for a writ of mandamus, holding the relator's action was proper.

27th, Cornhusker Traffic Solution Not Found Yet

No solution has yet been found to relieve the heavy traffic problem at 27th and Cornhusker Highway, R. L. Meyers of the State Highway Department reported.

A traffic signal had been temporarily installed to relieve congestion during State Fair Week.

However, Meyers explained, a signal is not the solution. Signal control, he said, needs at least two lanes of traffic approaching from each direction.

Some sort of reconstruction will have to be done to solve the problem, he said.

Meyers also explained spot improvement does not contribute much to traffic control when the rest of the stretch of highway is not adequate. Speeding up of traffic at 27th and Cornhusker would cause additional problems elsewhere on the by-pass.

Who Owns Family Pants And Pipe Now, Pa? Nope. Ma

By BARBARA HEMPHILL
Star Staff Writer

Women have been wearing the family pants and driving the family car for some time. Now they're smoking the family pipe.

It could have been a direct descendant of Susan B. Anthony who, pipe in mouth, brought the family sedan to a stop at a Lincoln intersection.

Her husband, sitting beside her in the front seat, was smoking, too—a plain, old-fashioned, non-filtered-type cigarette.

That pipe-smoking lady driver was a rare type in Lincoln—not because she was smoking a pipe, but because she was doing it in public.

Plenty of small, rhinestone-studded ladies' pipes have been purchased here since they went on sale a couple of months ago.

But milady seems to be doing most of her puffing in the privacy of her home, as she did when she first took up cigarette smoking several decades ago.

Men No Barrier

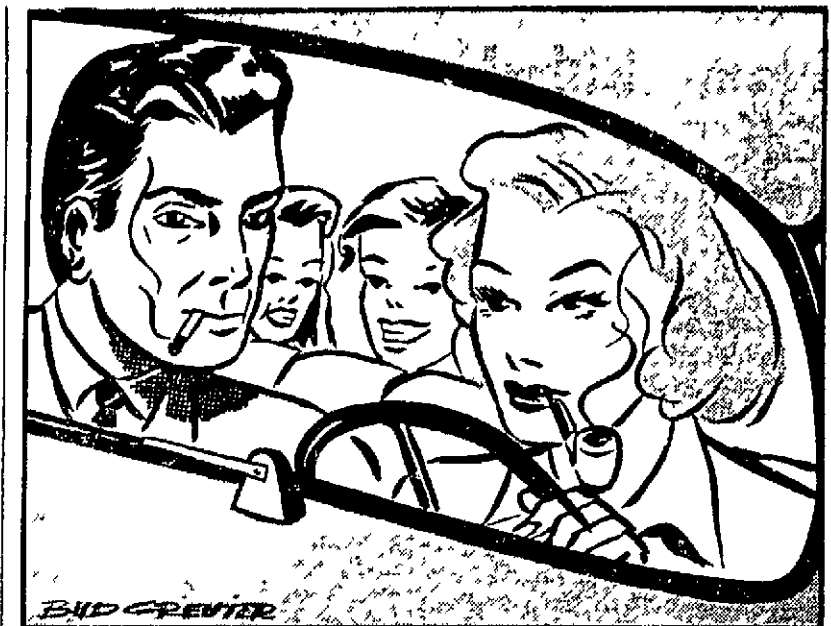

If it's the fear of male disapproval that's stopping the ladies from public pipe-smoking, they're on the wrong track.

Those who sell them say they've sold more women's pipes to men than to women.

One Lincoln man told the salesman he was buying his wife a pipe to smoke while he relaxes and smokes his when they're watching television in the evenings.

And at least two other Lincoln men have returned to the store for a second jeweled pipe for their wives.

Still, most women customers try to make it appear that the pipes they're buying are going to be smoked by someone else.

"Of course I wouldn't smoke a pipe myself," the customer will say, "but I have a friend who will get a big laugh out of my giving her this."

Give Themselves Away

But no one buys a $7 pipe just for a joke, one saleswoman said. "I'm usually pretty sure they're buying the pipes for themselves."

And such customers, the saleswoman said, often incriminate themselves further by asking what kind of tobacco would be best to use.

"I've always suspected there were some women who smoked pipes even before manufacturers started making special ladies' pipes," the salesgirl said.

"Sometimes," she said, "a female customer would pick and choose for hours and end up with a very, small pipe which I was sure she planned to smoke herself."

Retailers said their first shipment of ladies' pipes, which sell for $2 to $7.50, went fast, but sales are slowing down now.

But if a few more females start puffing their pipes in public, what is now mostly an undercover movement might soon become more than just a passing fad.

City Of Lincoln Bonded Indebtedness $3 Million

The city's general obligation bonded indebtedness will go to a net of $4,290,500 as of Nov. 1, 1954.

Currently carrying a net debt of $3,090,500, the city will issue another $1.2 million in storm sewer bond dated Nov. 1, 1954. The current total includes only bonds paid for out of general taxation or special assessment which are a lien against the city of Lincoln itself.

This total does not include the $6 million in water improvement bonds which was just recently issued and practically all yet outstanding.

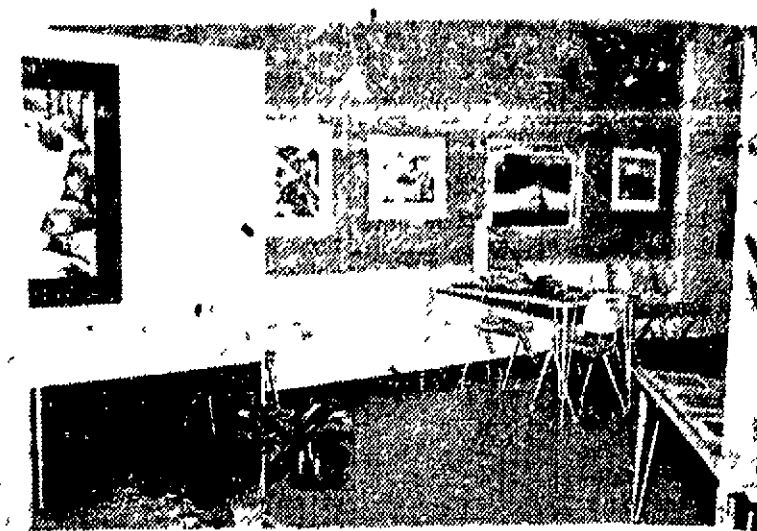

The gross general bonded debt of the city is now $3,299,830 but this figure is cut down to $209,330 in various sinking funds to pay off bonds.

The net debt includes $440,000 still outstanding on the original 1940 auditorium bond issue, $1.5 million outstanding on this summer's new auditorium bond issue, $600,000 in main sanitary sewer bonds, $210,000 in airport improvement bonds, $1,074,830 in special assessment district bonds and $15,000 of the old 1930 water bond issue.

There is a $15,000 sinking fund on hand to pay off the overdue 130 water bonds but the city has been unable to find the holders of those certificates.

For the 1954-55 fiscal year, the city has appropriated $221,146 for the payment of interest and principal on its bonded debt. Of this amount, $201,553.99 is obtained with a total levy of 1.625 mills.

Low Milk Supports Boost Output U of N Professor Finds

Total Farm Income Stronger Production Factor—Feder

BY JOHN SWANSON
Star Farm Editor

Lower support prices may have just the opposite of the desired effect on the milk supply in the nation.

This is indicated in a study by Ernest Feder, associate professor of agriculture economics at the Nebraska College of Agriculture. Feder's study reveals that in past periods of reduced farm income an increased share of the cash farm receipts was obtained from the sale of dairy products. Writing in Farm Policy Forum, Feder pointed out that the recent upsurge in the nation's milk production may well be due to lower farm incomes as well as to strong technological improvements in dairy farms.

He concluded that, if total farm incomes are a factor in determining milk production in the short run, lower support prices may not adjust supplies and may even fail to stem an increase. "In any event," he wrote, "we may have to count on continued milk surpluses for several years to come."

BUDGET BALANCING

He added that farmers who make dairying their main source of income often boost output when milk prices decline. In this way, they are offsetting lower prices by larger sales. "Increased output is the logical solution for the efficient operator who cannot reduce costs, but needs a larger income. For the less efficient farmer it is a quick and painless method to increase income."

A subcommittee of which Feder was chairman prepared a booklet on Dairy Marketing, published by northern Great Plains experiment stations and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. In this publication it was pointed out that in past periods of reduced income, such as in the late twenties and early thirties, when prices for dairy products were high in relation to prices of most other farm products, sales of cream and milk expanded considerably. In the drought of the thirties, cream and milk sales fell off much less than sales of grain and other livestock products. Furthermore, sales of dairy products declined sharply as income from other sources rose since the middle of World War II.

"Some of the conditions which favor a repetition of this experience under similar circumstances of depression or drought are: (1) that Plains States farmers have been subjected to greater fluctuations in income than farmers in the rest of the Middle West, and might therefore seek farm enterprises which introduce stability into their total farm income; (2) the increased need for cash on mechanized farms where out-of-pocket expenses have become a large share of total costs; (3) the easy transition from raising beef calves to selling milk or cream; (4) the relative certainty of income from dairying which has caused lenders to extend credit for dairying in preference to other types of farm operations during bad times."

OTHER INCOME FACTOR

Approaching the problem from the other side, Feder pointed out the probability that dairying may decline gradually if income from other farm enterprises, such as livestock and grain, is maintained at a relatively high level.

The booklet also pointed out that dairying in the northern Great Plains region has suffered a long run decline because of the suitability of the area to grain and beef cattle.

With present prospects for consumption of dairy products, it seems unlikely that an expansion of dairying is justified, even considering a relatively strong population increase. A further shift from farm separated cream sales to whole milk sales will come about only very slowly, if at all.

On the other hand, notwithstanding demand, a temporary increase in dairying appears likely during periods of low farm income. Feder wrote that the fact that this region produces about 18 per cent of the nation's butter, lends this report added importance in the light of today's butter and dried milk surpluses.

The economist pointed out that this booklet is the first overall report ever to appear for this part of the country.

Calls Red Bid Phony

NEW YORK (INS) — Japanese Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida today described Communist trade overtures as phony and challenged the Soviet Union to prove its sincerity by signing a peace treaty.

Yoshida said nothing can come of the recent Communist moves to promote trade relations until a peace pact is signed and the reds end their propaganda picturing Japan as an aggressive nation.

The 76-year-old Japanese leader predicted Communist efforts to swing his country away from the free world and into the Communist orbit will fail because the red doctrine is an "anathema" to most Japanese.

Yoshida said "a certain amount" of trade between Japan and the Communist world is desirable to balance her trade deficit but "not much" will come of it under present conditions.

The Japanese statesman made the comments during a three-hour stopover in New York before sailing on the Queen Elizabeth for a goodwill tour of Western Europe.

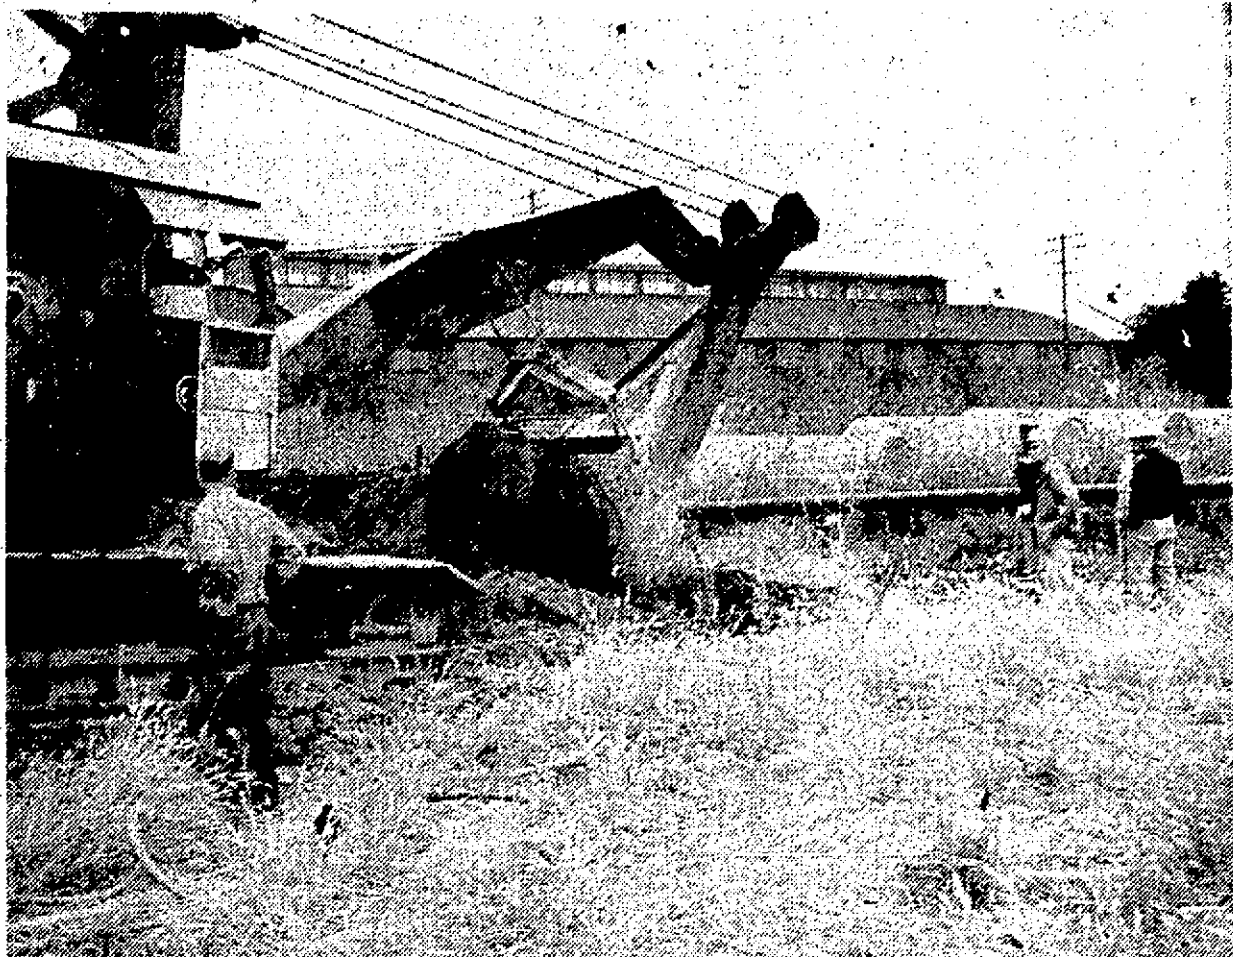

The prime minister will visit Paris, Bonn, Rome and London before returning to the United States for an official nine-day visit on November 2nd. He will hold high-level talks in Washington from Nov. 7 to 11th, when he returns home.

Cook had been with North Western 44 years. Mr. and Mrs. Cook plan to move to Seattle.

13 Miles Of Water Line Finished

In the picture above, another scoop of dirt is lifted out of the path of the city's new 48-inch water transmission line from Ashland to Lincoln. Work on the nearly $3 million pipe job is now under way through the Burlington shop yards near 70th and moving toward its termination point at the city's 51st Street pumping station. The crew now in Lincoln started working between Waverly and Greenwood, start of the solid black line which denotes completed work on the chart. Another crew started near Ashland and has moved more than half way toward Greenwood, solid line in the chart. The dotted lines in the chart are sections of the line yet to be completed. Some 13 miles of the 20 mile line have been completed with the project well ahead of its scheduled April 15, 1955 completion date. (Star Photo and Drawing.)

Axtell Builds New $485,000 School Plant

AXTELL, Neb.—Construction of the new $485,000 community school building here has begun on the site north of the present school house.

Supt. Lester Hunt said the building should be completed in about a year.

The new structure will include an elementary unit to house eight grades and a kindergarten built around an open court. The Axtell school now has no kindergarten.

An auditorium-gymnasium will be built to house space for the music department and locker rooms. Shop for vocational agriculture classes and a new home economics unit will be added.

Office space and a study hall will be built in a unit joining the new elementary building with the existing building.

The auditorium will provide seating space for 1,000 persons. The present gymnasium-auditorium will be converted into a school lunch room and a general purpose room for the grade school.

Axtell has a record enrollment of 241 pupils this year. Classes are being held in the old town fire hall, the township hall and two rooms in the superintendent's residence. A former restaurant houses the school lunch room.

The reorganized school district voted for the $485,000 bond issue at a special election last February.

Gila Monster Visits Family

SCOTIA, Neb. — A gila monster was an unwelcome visitor at the Max Stanner residence in Scotia.

The animal had wandered into the garage and was trying to make its way through the partitions into the house when it awakened the family.

Stanner found the nine-inch lizard and quickly dispatched it with his fishing pole.

Kearney Rotary Honors Holmes

KEARNEY — The Kearney Rotary Club has honored one of its members for 25 years of perfect attendance.

He is Dr. K. L. Holmes, who received a 25-year attendance emblem, and a cigarette lighter as a gift from the club.

The presentation was made by Albert Kjar, Lexington, governor of District 176, Rotary International.

80 Grandmothers At Church Party

PLAINVIEW, Neb. — The annual grandmothers' party sponsored by the Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Wesleyan Service Guild was held here.

Eighty grandmothers attended the event.

Mrs. Mae Dunaway, 89, was the oldest grandmother present, and Mrs. Clarence Young, 65, the youngest. Mrs. Marilla Larson of Tucson, Ariz., was from the farthest distance, and Mrs. Charles Butterfield had the most grandchildren.

A pageant, "Mothers of All Nations," was presented with participants wearing costumes of the countries they represented.

Elwood Woman Named District School Head

HOLDREGE — Mrs. Cloyd Clark of Elwood has been named president of District VI of the Nebraska State School Board association. She succeeds C. Clapp of McCook.

Others named at the meeting here were Leslie Shaffer of Holdrege, vice president and Mrs. Audrey Wilburn of Beaver City, secretary-treasurer.

Lincoln's Park Outlay Zooms In Recent Years

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

Capital expenditures for the city in the past five years show radical fluctuations in various departments with the new 1954-55 fiscal year promising to be the biggest ever in outlay for new improvements and equipment.

Probably the most significant change in the capital outlay story is found in parks and recreation. From a combined $6,769 parks and recreation capital outlay program in 1949-50, the city has gone to expected total for 1954-55 of $127,200.

The parks and recreation departments began a comeback in 1953-54 with a $69,769 capital outlay program after years of appropriations for that purpose running under $20,000.

Streets Boosted

Great strides have also been made recently in the capital outlay program for streets and storm sewers, although not considered such general tax programs as parks and recreation.

In 1949-50, the city appropriated for street improvements $31,939. During 1954-55, a total of $507,000 is expected to be spent for this purpose.

The increase in street improvements is the result of increased revenues from gas taxes and auto registration fees. Major programs to be undertaken with those funds this year are the opening of P Street over the Rock Island tracks and construction of the first leg of the southeast diagonal.

The city's storm sewer program took its big jump in the 1952-53 fiscal year when the removal of the city's tax levy limit permitted the City Council to appropriate $214,275 for storm sewer construction. And for the current year, more than $1 million in storm sewer work is planned as the result of voters' approval of a $3.5 million storm sewer and flood control bond issue.

The storm sewer program of the current and past two years is astronomical in comparison with the $43,991 spent in 1951-52, the $9,655 spent in 1949-50 and nothing spent in 1950-51.

Appropriations for capital expenditures in the city's general fund have gone up one year and down the other since 1949-50 with 1954-55 likely to be the first time for two substantial increases in a row.

What the 1954-55 figure in the general fund will be is unknown now but one item alone, construction of an addition to the Police Department garage, will call for some $70,000. This one item is almost equal to the total general fund appropriation of $73,336 for capital outlay in 1950-51.

The general fund appropriation for capital outlay went up in 1949-50 to $113,720, down in 1950-51 to $73,336, up again in 1951-52 to $101,589, down again in 1952-53 to $86,326 and up again in 1953-54 to $116,540. Those general fund totals include the parks capital outlay appropriation.

More Paper Than Soldier Involved In This Army Move

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—It takes a lot of paper work to move a soldier.

Pvt. Henry Jones of Ft. Dix, N.J., was to appear as a witness in a civil case in U.S. District Court in Richmond. His headquarters issued orders for his travel to Richmond—49 copies in all. The case was postponed. There followed new orders rescinding Jones' original travel orders—49 copies again.

Plastic 'Stop' Signs Developed

CLEVELAND, Oct. (INS)—The "stop" sign, which hasn't been edited for decades, is undergoing a material change.

It and other traffic markers are now being made of a new high-impact vinyl plastic that won't rust and is said to last considerably longer than the approximate three-year life span of metal highway signs.

Combination Gym Studied At Stamford

STAMFORD, Neb.—A committee from the Stamford school district is making visits to other nearby schools to study designs for a proposed new auditorium-gym in Stamford.

The proposal was made and the committee appointed at a recent district meeting.

The present school gymnasium in Stamford was built in the 1920's and is now considered inadequate.

Tentative plans call for construction of a new gymnasium with a permanent stage to handle community events. A new gym will make it possible to use the old one for classrooms.

Bandits Get 40-G In Bank Robbery At Air Force Base

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz. (INS)—FBI and military officers are investigating the theft of $40,000 from a safe in the Valley National Bank branch office at Williams Air Force Base, Ariz.

Military police discovered the robbery early today in a routine check of the frame building housing the bank. They said entry was gained last night by forcing a door. The safe was wrecked.

The deputy sheriffs guarded the bank until 2 p.m. closing time yesterday after authorities received a tip it would be robbed.

Juvenile delinquency has increasingly become the concern of law enforcement, judicial, religious, social welfare and other groups.

Its statistical increase has largely been pointed out by the FBI-complied reports on teen-age committed crimes as well as national studies of juvenile court records.

While most authorities believe juvenile delinquency in recent years has been increasing in proportion to adult cases and the population increase, there are those who feel we are merely "discovering" the problem.

LINCOLN OPINION

In Lincoln varying opinions have come from various quarters on the juvenile delinquency problem—some uninformed and without foundation.

However, the general opinion has been the problem here is not a serious one in numbers—which do not reflect the national averages showing increases. However, there has been urging from local sources that more study and attention be given to case handling.

Based on a survey of delinquency complaints filed in Juvenile Court, Lancaster County's (and Lincoln) number of new cases annually has been steadily decreasing since 1933 on 10-year averages.

For 1923-32, the averages works out at 246 new complaints annually. During 1933-42, the average increased to 269, but for 1943-1952 the average decreased to 215. For the 1943-1953 period, the five-year averages show a more decided decrease, or 234 from 1943-48, and 196 for 1948-53.

DOWNWARD TREND

In view of Lincoln's increasing school population from 13,727 children in 1927 to 16,045 in 1953, with the sharpest increase in the post-war years, the average decrease in delinquency complaints takes on greater significance.

As only the original complaints for each year are included in the survey, the number of "repeaters" is eliminated from the case average.

The number reached its zenith in 1935 with 375 cases, continuing on a high level for the next three years and without again reaching that point until 1946 with 332 cases. Decreasing from there during post-war years the number began increasing again in 1952.

For 1953 the number reached 294, but part of the increase is tempered by the number of juvenile offenders under 16 appearing in Juvenile Court on traffic-type offenses (operating motor vehicle without a license, etc.) which were previously handled in traffic court. The number is estimated up to 40 cases.

The Juvenile Court has "original" jurisdiction for most youthful offenders under 16 with concurrent jurisdiction with other courts for offender 16 to 18.

Following is the year by year record of the number of delinquency complaints (original) filed in the Juvenile Court:

Fairbury To Fete Farmer At Banquet

FAIRBURY — A rapid ticket business indicates the fifth annual farmer-businessman banquet here will be a smashing success.

The event, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will be held Oct. 12 at the school auditorium building.

Letters of invitation have been mailed to 1,470 farmers in the territory.

Only 450 reservations are available. They are being distributed on a "first come, first served" basis.

Only thing a farmer must do to secure a ticket is bring his letter of invitation to the chamber office and draw for his table.

Bon Grussing, manager of advertising sales promotion and public relations for the Minneapolis-Moline company, will speak at the banquet.

GOP Movie Goes Like Hot Cakes

WASHINGTON (INS) — Almost 100 GOP congressional candidates have placed orders for a color motion picture, "Report to the People," in which President Eisenhower, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, cabinet officers and legislative leaders extoll administration achievements.

The 27-minute color film, into which a candidate can insert a two-minute spot of his own, was previewed in Washington preliminary to its first use next week in Ohio and Michigan.

Top Republican officers review the administration record in the film, and President Eisenhower concludes the report by declaring "we have a good team here in Washington," and stressing that "what we have done was done for all Americans in all walks of life."

Fort Worth Man Sees Huge Serpent Zoo Missing One

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A Dallas man who said he saw a snake as big as a stovepipe swimming in the Trinity River near Fort Worth touched off another search for Python Pete.

Zoo officials and officers hurried to the scene in the hope of finding the 18-foot python that disappeared from the zoo two weeks ago.

David W. Smith, 59, said he saw the snake from a highway bridge. "I watched him until he rounded a bend which was about 500 feet away," Smith said.

Army, Air Force Simplify Soldier Mail Addressing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army and Air Force want you to make that address on your letters to servicemen one line shorter. They announced a new form should be used, dropping the present phrase "C.O. postmaster." Letters now should be sent this way:

Pvt. Willard Roe, RA 32 000 000 Company F, 167th Infantry

APO 201 New York, New York. Military postal officials emphasize the address should be confined to three lines, with the last one giving both the APO number and state side post office because postal clerks by habit always read the last line first in routing mail.

Creative Thinking Need Not Be Inborn

By MARILYN SWANSON
Star Staff Writer

Students in some 300 colleges and universities will get a taste this fall of a unique course in creative thinking—a course which was originated and first taught at the University of Nebraska.

Contrary to the once popular belief that imagination or the ability to create ideas was an inherent trait and could not be taught, these schools will teach their students to exercise their ability to create ideas just as they exercise their knowledge of the multiplication tables.

Men enrolled in Air Force ROTC units in 206 schools will receive the same course under the name, "Problem Solving."

All these "idea lessons" got their start with Prof. Robert Crawford of the University of Nebraska School of Journalism, who began teaching creative thinking at the university back in 1931.

Some Didn't Click
"I noticed that students going out into the world and making rapid successes in journalism were men and women of ideas plus the ability to see those ideas through to success," Prof. Crawford said. "At the same time there were many students who attained high grades in the institution and yet made only moderate successes in later life. The problem with so many students in writing seemed to be lack of ideas rather than writing ability."

The university professor recognized the need for a course which would enable students to exercise their ability to get ideas and put them to work. He based his course on techniques of psychology and philosophy.

Not only is the course a popular one at the university, but industrial firms and manufacturers soon discovered the course and incorporated Prof. Crawford's creative thinking program in their operations. Firms such as General Motors, General Foods, International Business Machines, Allied Chemical, and DuPont put their executives to work practicing what Prof. Crawford teaches.

Dr. Robt. Crawford

A great deal of interest in the field today stems from the work done by Alex Osborn, noted advertising firm executive. Osborn, who has done much to popularize the subject, credits Nebraska's Crawford as his inspiration.

Basically, Crawford says the creation of an idea generally consists in the shifting of attributes from one thing to another. "In other words, we give the thing with which we are working some new quality or characteristic or attribute heretofore applied to something else," he explained.

Control Factors
Prof. Crawford lists as factors controlling the choice of attributes

Bayard To Have Soil Judge School

BAYARD, Neb. — A district soil judging school will be held here Oct. 14, under the sponsorship of the Bayard Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Talks will be made on proper methods of determining nutrients for different types of soils by soil technicians and conservationists. The morning session will be held at Bayard High School.

Soil judging on farms in the area will be done in the afternoon, with FFA and 4-H teams competing. Judging teams from vocational agriculture departments of panhandle schools will participate.

Contributions for trophies, prizes and other expenses will be provided by the Great Western Sugar Co., Chester B. Brown Bean Co., Bayard Elevator, Dutton Implement, Bayard Equipment Inc., Yekel Implement, J. C. Super Service, Trinidad Bean and Elevator Co., and First National Bank.

Church At Hebron Gets New Pastor

HEBRON — The Rev. Louis Chamberlain is the new pastor of the Christian Church here.

1. Money-making and commercial possibilities.
2. Labor-saving possibilities.
3. Preservation and well-being of ourselves and others.
4. Beauty and appeal to the senses.
5. The current of the world's thinking.

He suggests that to create an atmosphere conducive to the creation of ideas you do something different, read something outside your general experience, take some outdoor exercise, or see some new people.

Prof. Crawford is the author of the recently published book, "The Techniques of Creative Thinking," which was chosen as the monthly selection for the Business Leaders', Salesmen's, and Executives' book clubs.

He has taught at the University of Nebraska for the past 30 years with time out for service with the Office of War Information and the War Department during World War II.

Secretary Hobby Says Traffic Toll National Scandal

MILWAUKEE (INS) — Welfare Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby described the U.S. traffic situation and highway toll today as a "national scandal" which can only be licked by cooperation at all levels of government.

Mrs. Hobby said the badly needed job "cannot be done without the closest and most intimate cooperation" and the support of the public.

Her remarks were made in an address prepared for delivery at the governor's conference for highway safety in Milwaukee.

She declared: "We can no longer afford to regard the inadequacies of our traffic systems and the consequent injury, damage and loss of life as isolated problems. We must look on them together as an opportunity to demonstrate our greatness as a nation of progressive people who will not be turned back by any challenge."

Common Weed Found That Will Nullify Nerve Gas

LOS ANGELES (INS)

The University of Southern California's School of Pharmacy reports that a weed that grows wild in California is an excellent source of an antidote for the Army's new nerve gas.

The plant, which is similar to jimson weed, is known to botanists as Datura meteloides and is rich in atropine, probably the most effective antidote for nerve gases.

The plant also contains a large amount of scopalamine, and anti-motion sickness drug.

Dr. Orville H. Miller, professor of pharmacy at USC, and Paul Kalemkarian, a recent graduate of the school, began investigating plants as a source of atropine more than two years ago.

The government reportedly is stockpiling the drug because its normal source is behind the Iron Curtain in the Balkans. They found that Datura meteloides yielded about two pounds of atropine and scopalamine per ton of leaves and stems. The drugs are worth about $320 a pound.

The weed is native to California and other southwestern states, growing in virtually unlimited supply in desert areas, pastures, fields and orchards. It is almost impossible to kill and produces an abundance of leaves and stems in its first year of growth, unlike other drug producing plants.

It grows close to the ground and has dark green leaves and large trumpet-shaped white or purplish flowers.

Dr. Miller says the weed has been an overlooked source of atropine, which is used as an antispasmodic drug in ulcer cases and in treating other stomach illnesses.

Latin America Will Ask More Financing From U.S.

By SERGIO SANTELICES
Latin-American Director
International News Service

Fresh capital for Latin-American countries from the United States is the number one item on the agenda of the forthcoming Rio de Janeiro conference.

All indications from summaries of six "papers" prepared by the technical secretariat of the organization of American states for the Rio de Janeiro conference makes this clear.

Increased U.S. assistance, particularly in the form of private and public investment in Latin America, will be asked at the November meeting.

Nearly all of the "papers" submitted stress that Latin America's industrialization and progress will be impaired greatly unless foreign capital and technical assistance are forthcoming on a larger scale.

The U.S. delegation already has been given notice that fresh capital investments will be asked since the six "papers" are the basis for discussion at Rio.

A greater flow of public loans is asked, this is because the repayment terms of such loans are more favorable than private investment. Also such loans usually do not make as quick or severe demands on foreign exchange as do private loans.

U.S. officials indicate that demands on the United States may greatly exceed the nation's capacity to meet them.

A group of Washington observers — not officials — stress that no delegation this country sends to Rio can make any valid promise to increase the flow of private investment southward. They also insist that no delegates can offer much hope on commodity agreements.

However, the U.S. delegation is reported not going to the Rio conference with so little in the way of tangible aid as it had to offer at Caracas earlier in the year. The export-import bank has been given an entirely new lease on life by the U.S. Congress. Both its funds and its discretion in using them have been expanded.

The presidential declaration of a state of siege was accepted quietly in Chile last week despite the feud between Congress and President Gen. Carlos Ibanez Del Campo. The situation in the copper mines where men have been striking almost was normal by week end. The government blamed "international Communism" for the wave of strikes. But some observers doubted that the Reds were so active in the labor unions as they are among circles such as school teachers and the civil service ranks.

Terms of the strike settlement still are being discussed. The miners asked for a 75 per cent increase in pay and other benefits. Company sources still decline to say what they might give, but it won't be near the demand. And another problem which might cause trouble is a government action in promising the workers more than the companies are willing to grant.

Elections in Guatemala for a constituent assembly will be held on Oct. 10 under the cloud of just how Communism made such great inroads in the tiny republic.

It will be a free election — to be sure. But Republican representative Patrick J. Hillings, of California, has called for an early congressional investigation into the Red conspiracy in Guatemala.

Hillings, chairman of the Latin-American subcommittee of a special House group studying Red aggression, recently returned to the U.S. after a 15,000-mile trip through Central and Latin America. He declared:

"I believe that we in the United States should know the full story of how a few skilled conspirators were able to gain control of a country right next door to us, and to use it as a bridgehead of a carefully-calculated attempt to secure all of Central America, and eventually, of course, all Latin America and the Western hemisphere."

The campaign goal is $37,917, $1,372 more than a year ago.

FRIGHTENED PARENTS HUNT MISSING TOT

YORK, Neb.—Numb with terror and apprehension, a York couple frantically searched for over an hour for their missing twin son, Ronald, not yet two years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hinze had plenty of help in their search for the tot. The York fire alarm was sounded, bringing volunteer firemen to aid the sheriff's office, city police and neighbors already scouring the area.

Finally Ronald was located—in the basement of a neighboring house.

He had been playing in the basement window well, leaned against the glass and then tumbled six feet to the cellar floor. He suffered a skinned knee, minor shoulder injury—and a probable tanned behind.

NORFOLK—The Rev. E. G. Brinkmeyer has resigned as minister of the First Congregational Church here to accept the ministry of the Webster City, Ia., First Congregational Church.

The Rev. Mr. Brinkmeyer will assume his new duties Jan. 1. When he leaves, he will have completed about 17 years of ministry in the Nebraska Congregational Conference. He began in Webster County as minister of the Red Cloud Larger Parish. He organized the church there and served it for two years. He went to Columbus next where he served six years at the Federated Church.

The Rev. Mr. Brinkmeyer has served as moderator of the Nebraska Congregational Conference and chairman of the conference board of directors. He has also served as chairman of the committees on evangelism and ministry. He also has been elected vice president of the Nebraska Council of Churches and has served as chairman of the ministers' convocation of the council.

CIO To Probe Welfare Fund Handling

... COMMITTEE TO FERRET OUT ANY 'UNETHICAL PRACTICES'

WASHINGTON — The CIO Tuesday created a standing committee to search out any irregular handling of rich union welfare funds and to oust any racketeers discovered.

The action taken unanimously by the CIO Executive Board also pledged co-operation with federal and state investigators and said if additional legislation is found necessary, as President Eisenhower has suggested, the CIO will support it.

CIO President Walter Reuther said the standing committee was charged with ferreting out any "unethical practices" whereby union leaders might enrich themselves unjustly and still not be technically violating any law.

Not Delay

"The CIO," the board said, "furthermore will not delay action to prevent or remedy abuses until a case has been formally established in the courts. Just as we did in expelling Communist unions, we will, in accordance with our own democratic procedures, take prompt and effective action on our own initiative against financial corruption by union officials."

The CIO stand was stronger than that taken recently by the AFL, in that a CIO group was ordered actually to search out fraud and fund mismanagement. This was possible because the CIO's constitution permits stronger union supervision than the AFL's.

Named to the CIO committee were President Jacob Potofsky of the clothing workers, President Joseph Curran of the maritime union, and Vice President James Thimmes of the steel workers.

Safeguard

Both the AFL and CIO are on record now with statements of firm intent to see that health and welfare funds are scrupulously safeguarded for union member beneficiaries and that loose-fingered union officials will be promptly ousted.

The action stemmed from spreading disclosures of union officials enriching themselves out of such funds. Probes now are being conducted by both House and Senate committees of Congress, by federal district attorneys and by several states.

The CIO, as did the AFL, called attention to Taft-Hartley law provisions making employers equally responsible with unions for honest administration of the funds, which run into billions of dollars.

"Wherever there is a crooked labor leader, there is a crooked employer," Reuther asserted. "Because there is a crooked labor leader, the employer should know about it and turn him in."

Reuther said that where exorbitant fees and commissions were paid for administering welfare funds, "The big money goes to men in industry and in the insurance racket—and we're interested in getting the big crooks as well as the little ones."

State College Enrollment Hike Averages 22 Per Cent

This year's enrollment increase at the state's four teachers colleges averaged 22 per cent, Secretary Albin Larson of the State Normal Board reported Tuesday.

Kearney State College led with a 27 per cent increase. Present enrollment at Kearney is 801, compared with 628 last fall.

Wayne, with 765 now, is next. A year ago Wayne had 625.

Enrollment at Chadron is up from 325 last fall to 394 now, and Peru is up from 342 to 391.

Larson attributed the increase, in part, to a leveling off of the national military program.

"The teachers colleges never had as high a proportion of veterans as some other schools," he commented.

The teachers colleges had some of their biggest years in depression times, Larson continued. In those years when other jobs were less plentiful, teaching was relatively more attractive than in boom times.

Now teaching is becoming more attractive again, as salaries edge upward and big paying jobs in industry become fewer.

"And these are primarily teacher training institutions," he added.

The enrollment figures for this fall were made up late in September. When the Normal Board meets here Oct. 16 the presidents are expected to report still a few more registrations, Larson said.

Nagging Backache Sleepless Nights

Often Due to Kidney Slow-down

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

HOW TO BEAT THE WASTED SHELL GAME

by don herold
Experienced hunters never shoot at the covey. They aim at one bird. In picking their bourbon they also narrow the field—to the man who makes it.

THIS SAYS WHO MAKES IT

Stitzel-Weller don't "sub-contract" a single drop of OLD CABIN STILL. They make, age and bottle every jigger of it with lovin' care, in one old-fashioned, family distillery under their own watchful eyes.

FLAVORFUL AS ALL OUTDOORS

That's why it has that outdoor flavor that merits the slogan, "The Sportsman's Choice." It's so satisfying in modest amounts that you can practice "Conservation Through Moderation" with bottle as well as with rod and gun.

Marilyn Not Cover Girl But Cover-up Gal Say Reds

NEW YORK (INS)—The Kremlin masterminds have figured that Marilyn Monroe is helping put the free world in bad shape.

The Communists described the actress, who once posed as a nude calendar girl, as a "cover-up" for America's supposed evil designs on the world.

The pipeline from Moscow—The Daily Worker—pointed this week to the extensive recent front page display of Marilyn "accentuating her silhouette" as a symbol of what's wrong with the free world.

Marilyn is being exploited, cried the Reds, being made a victim of a "publicity-mad culture" which has taken control in America and uses glamour as the cover-up for "financial brigands" and politicians.

Wailed the Worker: "As we consider Marilyn Monroe, we are left to flounder in a state of ignorance about our public figures."

Miss Monroe had nothing to say about the Red crack that she was just "a pretty girl of working-class origin" before the villains—Hollywood capitalists—turned her into a "commodity" for profit. The poor, exploited "employee" is not complaining. She started at $75 a week and now gets over $100,000 per picture—something unheard of in Russia.

Ironically, the Reds must have gotten their signals mixed. Their front page story is embroidered with some art which shows Marilyn in one of her best leg displays. The Reds also turned their propaganda guns on one of the best-known cops in the TV business—Sergeant Joe Friday. Movie critics agreed generally that Jack Webb's first full-length movie film patterned after his television show "Dragnet" was good entertainment. Not so the Communists.

"Dragnet film grinds axe for McCarthyism" headlined the worker. The Communist reviewer, who apparently imagines there is an FBI agent under every bed, has this to say about the cops-and-robbers thriller: "The picture's major theme is an effort to indict the Fifth Amendment. It's secondary plea is for legalization of wiretapping." Reason for the Com-

NEW YORK (INS)—Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, barred four months ago from the nation's atom secrets, was reelected director of the Institute and Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J.

The present school was completed in 1930.

A separate kindergarten was opened in 1951, with Mrs. Matilda Langehede as instructor.

The enrollment this year is a hike of 24 over last fall.

New staff members this fall are Miss Bertha Grupe, former Desher teacher, and Don Firnhaber of Lincoln.

Mrs. Grupe is first and second grade instructor. Firnhaber teaches the seventh grade and is music instructor.

Decker Hospital Building Planned

CAMBRIDGE, Neb. — The Decker Memorial Hospital board of Cambridge has decided to build a new hospital.

Funds for the hospital are provided from the estate of John O. Decker. A subscription drive to raise funds to augment the Decker estate will be conducted within a few months.

The board said continued attempts will be made to secure Federal Aid funds.

The decision was made after investigation showed that purchasing and remodeling the existing Republican Valley Hospital would be more costly than to erect a new building.

MEADOW GROVE, Neb.—Howard Adams, superintendent of schools at Meadow Grove, was elected president of the Madison County Teachers Association at its first meeting held here.

Other officers are Luvern Cunningham, superintendent of the Battle Creek schools, vice president; Helen Wiedeman, treasurer; and Gerard Melis, Tilden, secretary.

Richard Johnson, NSEA representative, discussed the redistricting situation.

Tilden faculty members will be hosts for the November meeting.

Ike May Step Up His Campaign

DENVER (U.P.)—President Eisenhower Tuesday called Republican congressional leaders to a political strategy conference here Tuesday amid signs he may head party chiefs and step up his personal campaign for election of a GOP Congress.

The Denver White House announced the chief executive and a group of top Republicans in the legislative branch will meet about two hours in advance of the President's nationwide radio-television campaign address Friday night (8:30 p.m., CST).

Big Rally

The leaders and Vice President Nixon, who also will be on the coast to coast program, all are scheduled to be on the speakers platform with Eisenhower at a big political rally in Municipal Auditorium here. The broadcast will originate from the 6,000-seat auditorium.

Eisenhower aids are saying the President's address will be his hardest hitting effort of the campaign—tailored on the basis of increasing reports from GOP leaders that the party faces a "tough fight" to maintain control of Congress.

The latest such report was put before the President Tuesday by Rep. Richard Simpson of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee. But Simpson said after a meeting with Eisenhower that while the going will be rough, he looks for the party to gain 15 to 20 seats in the House.

More Speeches Wanted

As House Majority Leader Halleck did on Sunday, Simpson made it plain to newsmen he would like to see the President make more campaign speeches than the two now scheduled—one Friday night and the other—mainly a get-out-the-vote appeal—on Nov. 1, election eve.

The White House indicated Tuesday that Eisenhower may decide to play a more active role. Murray Snyder, assistant press secretary, said the President is considering "several" invitations to make additional political addresses.

Snyder made the statement in response to inquiries about Nixon's assertion Monday night that Eisenhower probably would make a major campaign address in the Washington, D. C. area about Oct. 20. The press secretary said "there is nothing definite to announce at this time," but added that consideration is being given to accepting some of the invitations.

At the Friday conference of GOP congressional leaders the President also will review the latest developments on the international front, the White House said. That briefing presumably will include a discussion of the new Western Europe defense alliance agreement, signed in London over the weekend by the United States and eight Western allies.

The meeting will be the leaders' first with the President as a group since he started his Colorado vacation Aug. 21.

"Tough Fight"

Since then party chiefs who once talked with great optimism about continued GOP control of Congress have begun to speak more and more about "running scared" and about a "rough fight" ahead.

Congressional chiefs invited to the Friday strategy talks include all those who meet with the President every Monday morning in Washington when Congress is in session.

Among them are House Speaker Martin, House Majority Leader Halleck, Senate GOP Leader Knowland and Sen. Ferguson, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee.

Simpson, head of the House Campaign Committee, said here Tuesday his prediction of a 15-20-seat party gain in House seats was based on the situation as he found it in touring various states.

"We find the Democrats are fighting just as hard as we are," Simpson told a news conference, "but they lack an issue which will persuade the people to change their vote from an Eisenhower Republican Congress."

Ordinances have been introduced on first reading to the City Council to clear the way for new school construction by the vacation of streets and alleys.

One ordinance vacates Randolph from 22nd to 24th. The existing Randolph right-of-way will be taken by the school district as building ground for the new Lincoln High School activities building.

Construction is now under way on a Randolph by-pass from 21st to 24th south of Randolph about one block.

The other vacations clear the way for construction of the new Pershing Elementary School at 64th and Gladstone. Streets to be vacated are Gladstone, 64th to 65th and 64th, Gladstone to Judson.

Alleys to be vacated under the ordinance are from 64th to 65th, Gladstone to Hartley and 63rd to 65th, Judson to Gladstone.

Automatic Photo-Recording Machine Purchase Okayed By Commissioners

Purchase of an automatic photo-recording machine for Lancaster County to replace the present 10-year-old machine, badly needing repairs, has been approved by the commissioners.

The Haloid Company of Rochester, N. Y., which was sole bidder, was awarded the purchase contract for $8,000. This included estimate freight costs and a trade-in allowance of $600 on the old machine. Delivery was promised in 45 days.

A representative said the company's services would include training of operators and technical advice to county officers about methods of photo-copying documents, which could be adopted by the county.

The new machine requires the services of a single operator. Two operators are used on the county's present model.

In other action, the board placed on file a complaint against failure of property owners to trim a hedge near the public right-of-way at 6th Ave. and West Q.

The public nuisance complaint, made by the county highway commissioner, requires owners to trim the hedge within ten days of show cause at a hearing before the county board.

The property owners named in the complaint are Charles O. Ring of 245 No. 6th and William Folmer of 1820 West Q.

The hedge had been cited as making the intersection hazardous by patrons of School District 113.

Pardon Board Hearing Postponed To Oct. 20

The State Board of Pardons announced that date for hearing of applications of Penitentiary and Reformatory inmates for clemency has been postponed from the announced date of Oct. 13 to Oct. 20.

Ten applications will be considered from Penitentiary inmates, five from the Men's Reformatory and one from the Women's Reformatory.

Train Wreck Kills Nebraska Soldier

STANTON, Neb. (U.P.)—Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kander received word of the death of their son, Pfc. Edwin Kander, as the result of injuries received in a train wreck in Germany last week.

Falling Hair Can Be Stopped

The new book just published by Lanole Products, Inc. titled "SCALP HEALTH AND HYGIENE" and released through the Lanole Laboratories reveals a startling new concept in the scalp structure and hair growth.

It takes you behind the scene of ten full years of research into the scalp structure, scalp itch, dandruff and many other scalp conditions.

"We must understand the causes of scalp disorders," declares A. P. Abbey, noted trichologist, "if we even hope to correct these conditions and prevent the tragedy of baldness."

This new book treats the scalp as an organ... part of the human body and not as a vegetable garden or lawn. There is no hair seed; no scalp fertilizer.

It teaches a new and revolutionary method in scalp hygiene, how to prevent scalp failure and baldness. Learn the truth about hair oils, water, massaging and brushing. This book completely debunks all this nonsense about guarantees, growing new hair in 30 days and other confusing and misleading advertising.

Write for your free book to the LANOLE LABORATORIES, 9611 E. Forest, Div. 85-F Detroit 14, Mich.

COLUMBUS — The legal profession has lost some of its color. That's the opinion of one of Nebraska's veteran jurists, Louis Lightner.

Judge Lightner was honored by fellow attorneys here, as he marked his 50th year in the legal profession. He was presented a desk pen at the picnic of the Platte County Bar Association.

A Platte County resident since 1882, Judge Lightner served as district judge of the Sixth Judicial District for more than 25 years. Law is still fascinating, the veteran judge says, but it is "far more of a business" now.

"The profession is not as colorful as in the past," Judge Lightner said. "There is far less trial work, the attorneys of today having 99 per cent of their time taken up by office work."

Judge Lightner said that the lessening in the number of trials is probably due in a large part to the fact that attorneys have a more comprehensive education and know their rights better. "Many old-time lawyers liked to fight it out in court," the judge noted.

The biggest change in the legal profession the past half century is the vast amount of federal or tax work today, Judge Lightner believes. "Attorneys are very busy with such matters as income taxes, state taxes and federal questions."

During his service on the judicial bench, Judge Lightner said he found murder cases to be the most interesting—"and the best attended." He added, however, that murder cases are a rarity in this area—recalling only three or four in his years as a district judge.

The 76-year-old judge opened a law office in Columbus in July, 1904.

On Sept. 8, 1923, he was appointed district judge of the Sixth District and served in that position until Jan. 1, 1949.

Judge Lightner is now associated with Wilbur Johnson in private practice.

And he still doesn't intend to take his "shingle" down. "I have no thought of retirement," he said.

Judge Lightner had this advice for young attorneys: "Work hard and be honest..."

JUDGE LIGHTNER
... The "shingle" is still up.

Buffalo Survival Result Of Effective Protection

Buffalo, which furnished the Indians with food and the Wild West with adventure, have been saved from extinction by conservation practices.

After the great buffalo slaughters of the late 1880s, the National Wildlife Federation estimates that there were probably not more than 30 head except on reservations, left in the United States.

Today, there are from 8,000 to 10,000 head of buffalo—or bison—roaming the plains, protected by fences and rigid game laws.

Lloyd Vance, game supervisor for the Nebraska Game, Forestry and Parks Commission, says there were 288 buffalo in Nebraska, at the latest count.

This figure does not include the privately-owned herds.

The state herd, kept near Scottsbluff, numbers about 26 head, Vance said. Pioneer Park in Lincoln has approximately 20 buffalo.

Although Nebraska statutes describe the buffalo as a "game animal," other statutes provide for a $100 fine or 30 days imprisonment for killing a buffalo. Liquidated damages of $300 must be paid to the state for each buffalo killed by a hunter.

Game laws notwithstanding, some buffalo are killed each year as a conservation method.

Vance explained that because the herds in Nebraska are fenced in—as is done in most states—the size of the herds must be controlled so there will be enough pasture for the animals remaining.

The only free-ranging bison in North America are the Yellowstone Park herd and a herd in Canada, Vance said.

Nebraska was one of the sites of the great herds of buffalo which roamed the prairies before the white man arrived. Some historians estimate that the early Indians killed about 2,000,000 buffalo each year for food and the hides.

As settlers and the railroads pushed west, the buffalo reached their point of near-extinction. Although buffalo hunters, such as Buffalo Bill Cody, hunted the animal for food for the railroad gangs, white sportsmen hunted bison for pleasure and almost destroyed the great herds.

BUFFALO CLOTH
According to Vance, Kearney city officials once planned to develop a wool industry by using buffalo hair and weaving it into cloth for clothing and hats.

A buffalo bull weighs over 3,000 pounds and stands six feet high at the shoulder. It will have a total length of 11 feet with a 1½-foot tail. It is dark brown in the forward part and lighter to the rear with long, shaggy hair on the shoulders. The shoulders are high and arched; the eyes, small; and the horns, short and curved upward.

A buffalo will yield, approximately as much meat as a beef animal when slaughtered.

Ducks Veered And Hunter Shoots Off Companion's Scalp
SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP)—Howard Amel, 34, was scalped in a hunting accident. Amel and a companion, Neal MacInnis, were duck hunting along the St. Mary's River. MacInnis took aim at a flight of ducks. The flight swerved as he fired, and the shot, instead of hitting the ducks, tore the scalp off Amel's head.

Amel was reported recovering following treatment at a physician's office.
